

Queen's

'07

READING ROOM

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2020 with funding from Queen's University Archives

<https://archive.org/details/quyearbook1907>

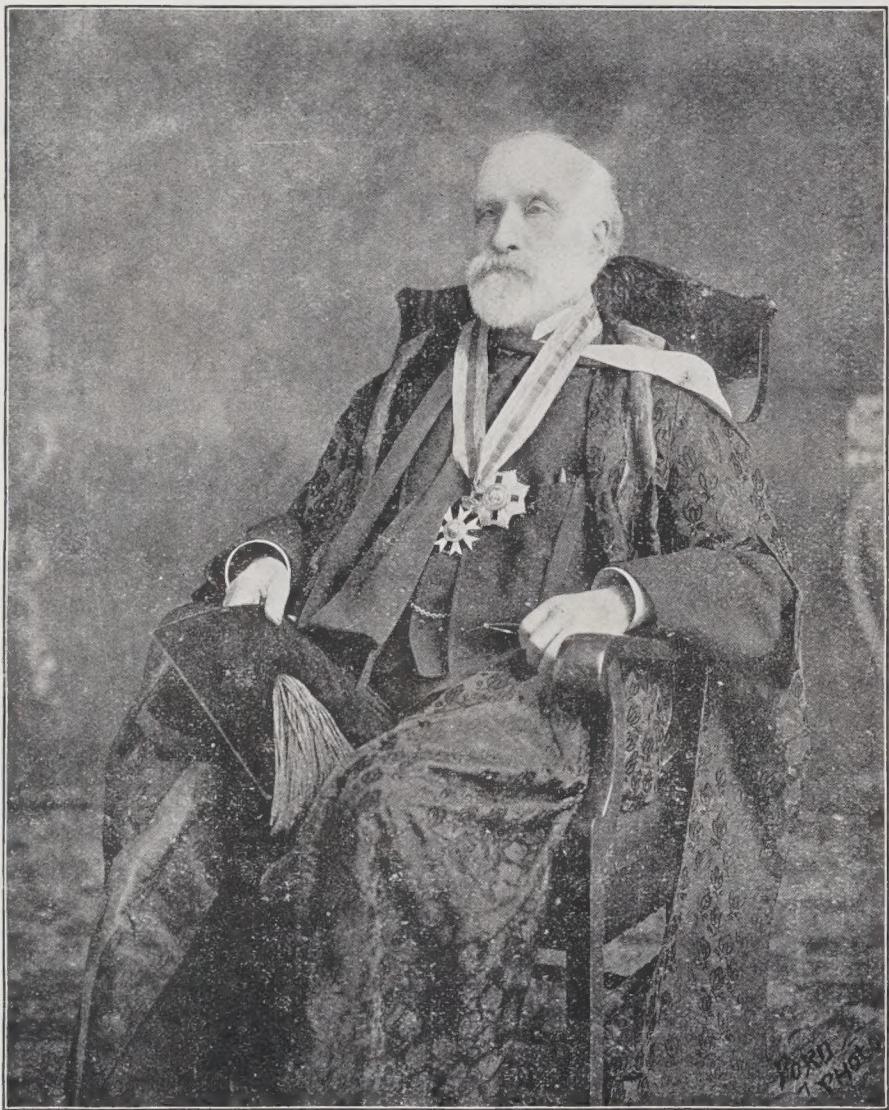

13,9,40
Toppan Co. Inc. 7,04

Sir Sandford Fleming, C.E., K.C.M.G., LL.D.

Chancellor Queen's University

To whom this book is respectfully

Dedicated.

THE CHANCELLOR

ARTS SOCIETY EXECUTIVE

D. C. Ramsay, P. M. & P. G. Com.	A. W. Gordon, '10 Committee.	N. S. Macdonell, '09 Committee.	H. Gibson, Auditor.	W. D. McIntosh, '07 Committee.
C. W. Livingston, Treasurer.	J. McAskile, President.	Prof. Callander, Hon. President.	R. C. Jackson, Critic.	W. W. Kennedy, Secretary.

Arts Society

YEARS ago, long before the new Arts Building was even conceived of, and when all Arts and Divinity students met together in what is now known as "Divinity Hall," there was no such thing as an Arts Society. However, about 1890 it was thought necessary to have an organization of some kind among the Arts and Divinity students to collect fees from them in a systematic way. Before this, athletic fees, reading-room fees, in fact, all fees were collected by a separate canvass, and, much like the taxes collected in England in early times, each fee was to be devoted to its special scheme. Rev. A. Lavalle, who was then a student, was instrumental in forming the Arts Society, and at the election of its officers all these fees were to be collected in one general tax of a dollar from each student. But with the growth of the college the importance of the Arts Society increased, and the athletic fees, of course, came to be collected by the registrar as part of the entrance fees of every student. More funds were thus left to the Arts Society to dispose of in other ways. These funds again were increased according as the number of Arts students in attendance increased. But these funds found quite a field of usefulness in keeping up the reading-room; in the new Arts Building after it was completed; in sending delegates to the functions of other colleges; in framing pictures to decorate the walls of the Arts Building, and in looking after the interests of the Arts Department generally.

At present the one-dollar fee of this Society is collected by the registrar, along with the general fees of the college. The Arts Concursus is a sub-committee of this Society, and presents its report to the Society the same as any regular committee. The Society meets every alternate Tuesday, and the meetings are conducted in an orderly and business-like way.

Arts

CONCURSUS INIQUITATIS ET VIRTUTIS. OYEZ! OYEZ! OYEZ!

LET all into whose hands this historical volume falls learn wherein lie the powers that be. For have we not stood since the time of the flood and meted out with an iron hand stern justice to all who have had the audacity to trespass upon the rights of others or been too sleepy to learn to be active in their own territory? On the opposite page we have a photograph of the wisdom and muscle which has found a sphere of action in seeing that every student who registered in the Arts Faculty in the term of '06-'07 should keep the peace, act decorously towards his professors and fellow-students and maintain the gentlemanly conduct which should characterize students of Queen's. Know ye that this court has the moral support and sanction not only of the students, but of the Senate. It is a judicial body of all students in Arts, and not governed by the Senior year or any clique or class whatever. The students themselves elect the officers, who as a body form the Vigilance Committee and Grand Jury to whom are reported all cases of misconduct on the part of the students, and who enter the charges and prosecute the offenders in proper form. It relieves the Senate of a great deal of responsibility, and at the same time trains the students in the exercise of citizenship. Needless to say, its prevention of misdemeanors far exceeds the cases it needs to cure.

ARTS CONCURSUS INIQUITATIS ET VIRTUTIS, QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY, SESSION '06-'07

D. J. Lane,

G. L. Fraser,

E. B. Wylie,

J. M. Simpson, Crier.

P. G. McPherson,
Constable '07.

Dennis Jordan,
Constable '07.

S. D. Skene,
Constable '08.

J. M. Shaver,
Chief of Police.

H. W. Macdonell,
Constable '09.

D. L. Fee,
Constable '10.

J. G. McCammon,
Jun. Prosecuting Attorney.

M. Matheson,
Sen. Prosecuting Attorney.

J. I. Grover,
Junior Judge.

J. A. Shaver,
Senior Judge.

D. J. Fraser,
Sheriff.

D. I. McLeod,
Clerk.

POLITICAL SCIENCE AND DEBATING CLUB, QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY, 1906-07

O. D. Skelton, M.A.,
Critic.

D. A. McArthur,
President.

G. L. Fraser,
Sec.-Treas.

Prof. Shortt,
Hon. President.

W. J. Wolsey,
Committeeman.

J. M. McGillivray,
Vice-President.

QUEEN'S FACULTY OF PHILOSOPHY, AND OFFICERS OF THE PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY, 1906-7

J. L. Nichol, M.A.,

I.

R. J. McDonald,

Vice President.

R. C. Jackson,

II.

J. C. Macleod, M.A.,
Fellow in Mental Phil.

C. S. Wood, D.D.,
Prof. Mental Phil.

Prof. W. G. Jordan, D.D.,
Hon. President.

Prof. J. Watson, LL.D.,
Prof. of Moral Phil.

L. M. McDougall, M.A.,
Fellow in Moral Phil.

The Philosophical Society

THIS society is for the purpose of presenting and discussing problems which are of interest to all thinking men. The subjects of the papers are meant to help all who think at all about the world, life and human activity and the meaning of it all. In the meetings of the society, which are held every two weeks, the greatest freedom of discussion is encouraged, which leads to a greater familiarity with these vital questions and a better acquaintance with one another.

The programme for 1906-07 has been a varied one. Outside the student body contributions were given by Vice-Principal Watson, Professor Jordan and Professor J. G. Hume, of Toronto University. The names of these men alone are a guarantee of the richness and variety of thought on which we have been feasting. The discussions of papers given by the students were lively and to the point. We reproduce on another page a photograph of the Executive of this society.

Political Science and Debating Club

THIS club has become a very important factor in the life of the University. It is the only regular debating society in connection with the College. It has been in existence for over ten years, and has been of great benefit not only in bringing out the latent debating talents in the members, but also in its work of bringing the students in contact with the personalities and ideas of men engaged in the government of the country and in all the wider interests of real life. The programme for the session of '06-'07 was an exceedingly interesting one, some of the speakers being Hon. Sidney A. Fisher, Mr. R. L. Borden, K.C., M.P., Rev. J. A. Macdonald, Mr. J. H. Glazebrook, Mr. Bourassa, M.P., and Mr. Lyons. The club owes much to Professor Shortt, who has been elected its Honorary President for many years, and who has been so instrumental in making the efforts of the members a success.

LEVANA EXECUTIVE, '06-'07

E. Nesbitt,
Jr. Curator.

M. Mackay,
Conceuer Athletic Com.

M. Short,
Jr. Curator.

L. Reive,
Treasurer.
M. Hiscock,
Sr. Curator.

A. Spencer,
Com. 2nd Term.

L. Reid, B.A.,
Com. 1st Term.

E. Alford,
Com. 1st Term.

L. Steward,
Historian.
A. Pierce,
A. Hughes,
Director of Ladies' Glee Club.

E. Millar,
Poetess.

M. Clifford,
Critic.

LEVANA ROOM

'07's LEVANA DEBATERS

MISS POOLE.

MISS AFFORD.

MISS PRALL.

MISS MACINNES.

MISS CLIFFORD.

The debaters who won the Levana Inter-year debating cup three years in succession, entitling '07 to perpetual possession.

The Levana Society

IN the session of 1888 a girls' society was started at Queen's which was christened under the name of the Levana Society. The name, which was suggested by Professor Macgillivray, is associated with that goddess, who in ancient Rome was supposed to protect the new-born babe and inspire the father with the desire to provide for and educate it.

The number of the first office-bearers was but few. Besides the Honorary President and President were a Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer and Curators of the reading-room. At this time Queen's had 52 women undergraduates, 33 of these being in Arts and the rest in Medicine. Since that time both students and office-bearers have materially increased in number, the latter including, besides those at first appointed, the Senior Curator, Poetess, Prophet-Historian, Critic, Convener of Programme Committee, Convener of Athletic Committee, and Director of the Girls' Glee Club.

The Levana Society corresponds to the Arts Society among the men, and all girl students are supposed to belong to it. It meets every fortnight, when all business affecting the girls' interests is carried on, after which a programme is always presented. Three afternoons in the session are devoted to social meetings, and on other days debates now occupy an important place, there being always one between the two Senior years, another between the two Junior years, and a third between the winners. It is interesting to note that debates were also a feature of the early years of the society, though they were discontinued for some time. Indeed, in many ways in the early nineties the Levana seemed to have suffered from inanition, calling forth the reproach in the columns of the Journal, "Let it not be said of Levana, that thou hast a name that thou livest and art dead."

But that is an old story, and nothing could be more flourishing than the present condition of the society. A stranger who looked into the pleasant Levana room on the third story of the new Arts Building and saw the flock of bright, animated girls filling every corner, could have no doubt of its popularity. Even now complaints are heard that the quarters are too strait (a familiar cry at Queen's), but they are very bright and inviting, with the well-equipped reading tables, the pleasant pictures on the walls, and the comfortable chairs and sofas greeting tired girls in their spare moments with their silent "Siste Viator."

'07 ARTS EXECUTIVE (FINAL YEAR)

R. Rafter,
Historian.

Miss C. Scott,
Editor.

J. L. Grover,
Music.

Miss E. A. Millar,
Prophetess.

C. C. Salisbury,
Orator.

C. H. Bland,
Secretary.

Miss E. Spotswood,
Vice-President.

Prof. Shortt,
Hon. President.

D. J. Fraser,
President.

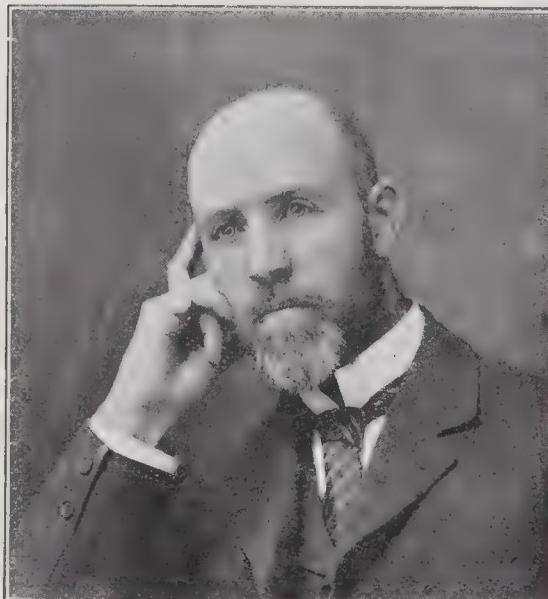

PROF. DYDE.

PROF. MATHESON.

PROF. MARSHALL.

PROF. SHORTT.

HON. PRESIDENTS '07 ARTS

History of '07 Arts

THE fates had decreed it, hence how could it have been otherwise! Was not this illustrious year born in '03, and does it not close its undergraduate existence in '07? Whence these perfect numbers? Shall the like come again? Nay! Not for one hundred years. This most propitious advent had been long foreseen and the most elaborate of preparations made.

The installation of the new Principal, the opening of Ontario Hall, and the advent of '07 to college life, were surely sufficient to call forth ambassadors of good will from the uttermost halls of learning in America, Germany and the British Isles, and to cause such a burst of enthusiasm as old Queen's ne'er saw before.

With timorous hearts we sought out the Church History Room, for had not the convenient "By Order" bulletin been issued, calling upon '07 to organize? 'Twas then we asked our neighbor his name and straightway nominated him for office. Fortunately a good executive was chosen, and the experience in the details of college affairs possessed by James A. Polson, as President, and Dennis Jordan, as Secretary, carried us through many difficulties that we wot not of at the time, but have since learned to appreciate.

That we should have an "At Home," was the unanimous opinion of the year. Then there was hurrying to and fro and meetings oft, and when, at last, the patronesses with glad accord expressed their delight at the success of the evening, like children we went home with happy hearts.

Reformed spelling, we believe, gives it "Freshmen's Deception," but in our day it was a true Reception. After receiving our bouquets, the majority of us had, for the first time, the pleasure of receiving a genial welcome from our new Principal. From here we were led like lambs to the fray that our eyes might be opened. Verily the social lion was the lucky one in that upper corridor. Perched upon an eminence, he calmly made signs to frantic specks in that swaying mass of humanity. Clambering upon a bench, we too could distinguish the return signals. One hand stuck up in the air, grasping remnants of frill and broken programme, returned signals till a more concerted struggle in one direction threw the unwary off their balance.

But why dwell on these details. Alas, 'tis not so in these degenerate times when Grant Hall has so modified the experiences of the Reception.

The wild gesticulations and the whirlwind finish of '06 availed them not when compared with the persuasive powers of Burns and Kennedy; and upon this occasion the men of '07 won their only debate. The girls of the year have, however, been more fortunate in the Leyana debates, having won the trophy by holding it for three successive years.

Well we remember our first elections. Banners, sidewalk advertisements and rushes stirred up our latent energies into a fever pitch of excitement. 'Twas later that we knew that it was not for the positions of assistant secretary and committee-man that midnight marauders swooped down on Science Hall, and the spoils of war floated in the morning breeze from our flagpole. Neither was it for our candidates that a sortie was made and a lusty Arts Sophomore captured, which was the cause of the storming of Fleming Hall, and that superb bit of strategy which opened barred doors and allowed the warriors to ascend high and dry to the draughting room, there to gain possession of the captured one. Oh, that rush up Princess Street! Who will forget it? Flying to right of us, flying to left of us, citizens hurried. All but one green hand on the force, who later faced the music for having rashly smitten a youth upon the pate. Oh, how would you like to be a policeman in a college town?

That august body, the Concursus, has ne'er found a delinquent in '07. With quaking hearts we were hauled through a window, passed the censor and allowed to ascend to the attic, where once the voice of Nickie had made the rafters quiver and the Freshmen shake.

The Mosaic swing of those first chronicles, that prophetic fire, that flood of oratory, the poesy of our first poetess, how could we forget all this! No, but then we were mere Freshmen.

It was with considerable pride and satisfaction that we extended the right hand of fellowship to incoming Freshmen, who so swelled our numbers that we became the greatest that had been.

But this superficial greatness has been imitated by our successors to such a degree that we hesitate to mention it except to indicate our influence as an example to others.

Upon us as Sophomores devolved the duty of hosts in the refreshment room at the Freshmen's Reception. The contented expressions and bulging pockets of the Freshmen spoke volumes for our hospitality.

Under the new administration of C. J. Burns, as President, and W. A. Beecroft, as Secretary, '07 enjoyed a term of general prosperity. It is true that we did not get the handling of the Alma Mater pocket-book, but the name of Abou Doug Ellis led all the rest when it came to a matter of committee-men. For surely there is a gladness in his gladness when he smiles on the election stump.

Another preparation for the great class was completed, and it fell to our lot to assist in the opening of Grant Hall. Despite the "deadhead thunderbolts," shot at the gallery, we were glad to welcome back one who had wandered from the fold, and later in the year to add Professor Kirkpatrick, Earl Grey and Lord Strathcona to our list of honorary graduates.

Murdoch Matheson, assisted by that upright young man, Alexander Rintoul, presided over the Executive and the welfare of '07 in our Junior year. Why mention our successes in the Alma Mater elections? Such things are known to all.

We had gotten beyond Junior Latin by this time, it is true, but had not lost our kindly recollections of that class. These were heightened by the sad demise of our friend, and the friend of all Freshmen, Professor Nicholson; and here we, too, would stop to add our small tribute to that Mr. Great Heart of old Queen's, as he has well been called.

D. J. Fraser and C. H. Bland now donned the gowns, and manned the ship of state; and it looks as though many would attain the long-looked-for degree under their capable supervision.

Feeling that the tie that binds was soon to be broken, '07 gathered together in a last social evening, and there, over the cup that cheers, refreshed their memories concerning the deeds of glory that have been, and will be again, as long as the last member of '07 exists. And still will the echoes resound, and others seeing our good works will be led to follow in our footsteps.

THE PRINCIPAL'S RESIDENCE

The Evolution of a '07 Graduate.

MURIEL ABBOTT.

"Whence is thy learning? Hath thy toil O'er books consumed the midnight oil?"

Miss Abbott is a Kingston girl, who came into Queen's from the Kingston Collegiate in the fall of 1903, and cast in her lot with the Class of '07. Not having been too much engrossed in her studies, she has always found time to enter into the social life of the University.

ETHEL ALFORD.

*"For if she will, she will—you may depend on't,
And if she won't, she won't, and that's an end on't."*

Miss Alford, born in Chantry, Ont., attended the Brockville Collegiate previous to her entrance to Queen's in October, 1904. She was successful in winning a scholarship in English and History at that time. In her First Year Miss Alford was elected Vice-President of the year, and in her final year was elected to the same office in the Levana Society. The President being absent from College, however, Miss Alford filled the office of President very capably.

HAROLD EDGAR ATWATER.

"Who would have guessed it by his lip?"

G. Y. tells us that this young man's home is in Baddeck, N.S., where he received his early education at the local Public and High Schools. It has also leaked out that he has some experience in business, that he holds a commission of some importance in the Canadian Militia, that his special line of sport is yachting, that he has a girl, and that he is preparing for Divinity.

JOHN A. ANDERSON.

"John Anderson, my jo John."

The lad who answers to this classic name writes home to Rossmore. He finished his preparation for the University in Albert College, Belleville, after which he earned a Model School certificate at Preston. After teaching some time, he returned to Albert to refresh his memory on the work, and entered Queen's in January, '04, since which time he has been ardently pursuing a specialist course in scientific subjects and working out his share of the destiny of Queen's as Secretary of the Naturalists' Club.

WILLIAM ARCHIE BEECROFT.

"But it is a melancholy of mine o'er."

Born near Woodville, Ont., educated at Lindsay C.I., joined the year in 1903. From the time he entered college he was prominent in all the vocal musical clubs of the city and the college. He was President of the Glee Club one year, and Chairman of the Musical Committee another. Archie took an interest also in sports, playing on Queen's H. football team. He held the position of Secretary of '07 Class in his Second Year; and Secretary of Alma Mater in Third Year.

CHARLES HEBER BLAND

"He has that within which says he is worthy."

Received his early education at Pembroke Public and High Schools, graduating from the latter with the "Kingston Scholarship," securing the Professor's prize in French. Joining us in our Sophomore year he became one of our most interested workers, taking an active part in the Dramatic Club and Symphony Orchestra. As Secretary-Treasurer of our final year he is second to none.

ARTHUR EDWARD BOAK

"He was a stranger, and we took him in."

Joined our year in 1906. He was a member of '06 Class, but decided to cast in his lot with the "Chosen band." He lived some time in Halifax, where he attended the Academy. He is one of our best classical men, having come in on the Watkins Scholarship, and capturing the Latin Medal and the prize for Latin Prose Composition. He took an interest in athletics, especially in basket-ball, being the Secretary-Treasurer and Vice-President of the Basket-ball Club. He served on the Journal staff as Alumni Editor during session of '06-'07.

NORMAN L. BOWEN.

*"He passed his hours among his books,
You find it in his meagre looks."*

He early got in the running at the Kingston Collegiate Institute, where he captured the Nichols Scholarship for general proficiency. Built like an alderman, however, his pace slackened, and his fervor for attending year meetings almost died away. He drifted into Mineralogy and Chemistry, in which line we trust he will justify the Government in increasing the grant to the School of Mines.

SAMUEL JOHN ALBERT BRANDON.

"When I said I would die a bachelor, I did not think I should live till I were married."

Born in Granton, Ont., Sam received his early education at St. Mary's Collegiate, from which he graduated with a Senior leaving. He attended Stratford Model School, and subsequently secured a certificate from the School of Pedagogy, and took three years' work off extra-murally. He entered Queen's in January of this year, to go away with his degree in the spring.

DUNCAN BROWN,

"And thou art long and lank and Brown."

Another pedagogue, writes his address as Belmont, Ont. He was educated at Aylmer Collegiate Institute, where he took his Senior leaving examination. Having graduated from Toronto Normal School, he taught for some time, efficiently filling positions in Bradford High School and Niagara Falls South High School. He entered Queen's in the autumn of 1904, to join the Class of '07 in the race for a degree in Arts.

CHARLES JAMES BURNS.

"The pipe, with solemn interposing puff, Makes half a sentence at a time enough."

Cannington Public School and Lindsay C. I. gave us another illustrious man of classics. A regular attendance at the meetings of his year and Alma Mater, with an active interest in musical matters, gave Charlie a wide experience in College life. He took part in the Inter-year debates in his Freshman year, was President of his year in the second year of his course, President of the Glee Club in his final year, and Editor-in-Chief of the Year-Book.

JAMES CAMPBELL BYERS.

*"A man he seems of cheerful yesterdays,
And confident to-morrows."*

Born at Eganville, Ont., and educated at the local Public School, Jim went down to Renfrew C. I. for further preparation for beginning a B.A., M.D. course at Queen's. He entered with the notables in their Freshman year, and was immediately given the task of writing our history, but as time advanced he cast in his lot with the medicals. He now holds the position of Secretary-Treasurer of the Rugby Football Club.

LULU MAY CAYS.

Miss Lulu Cays, Kingston, Ont., received her early education at Kingston Collegiate Institute. She then went to St. Margaret's College, Toronto, where she studied French and English, and passed with honors the Junior examinations in Music at the University of Toronto. In the autumn of 1903 Miss Cays came to Queen's, where she took classes in French and English, joining the year of '07 for one session.

PEARL CHANDLER.

"Fond of science and obligations, Though much averse to examinations."

Miss Chandler, whose home is in Norwood, Ont., graduated from the High School of that town with an Honor Matriculation in 1903. Coming to Queen's in the fall, she joined the year '07, and entered on an honor course in English and History.

MARGARET CLIFFORD.

"While words of learned length and thundering sound Amazed the gaping rustics ranged around."

Miss Clifford, who has been elected permanent Vice-President of the year, came to Queen's from Conroy, Ont., having been educated at the Stratford Collegiate. She joined '07 as a Sophomore, choosing a specialist course in English and History. In her final year she was Critic of the Levana Society, and an editor on the Journal staff. For two years she debated in the Levana Inter-year debates, and helped largely to win the trophy for '07.

MAURICE L. CORNELL.

"Thy modesty's a candle to thy merit."

Born in Carleton Place, educated at the same place, he came to Queen's in 1904 on an Honor Matriculation, having received the scholarship in English, Chemistry and Physics. He thus came among us well recommended, and soon proved his efficiency in Physics to his professor, who offered him the tutorship in that subject in his final year.

WILLIAM J. COOKE

*"The light that lies in woman's eyes
Has been my heart's undoing."*

Is a native of Orton, Ont. Receiving his Senior Matriculation at Orangeville High School, he entered Varsity, where he spent his Sophomore year as the esteemed member of the '07 Class. But the central forces of gravitation were so strong for him that he found himself at Queen's the following year. He is taking the general course in preparation for the ministry.

ALEXANDER DOW CORNETT,

"In wit a man; simplicity a child."

One of the youthful members of our Class, lives in Kingston, Ont. After taking a brilliant course at Gananoque High School and Kingston Collegiate, Dow entered college in 1903, and has since taken a lively interest in the affairs of the Class, and has always worked faithfully on many committees. He intends to specialize in Political Science and Philosophy.

PEARL CRAWFORD.

"Oh, precious evenings! all too swiftly sped!"

Miss Crawford graduated from the Kingston Collegiate in time to enter Queen's with the Class of '07. She it was who first lifted the veil from the future, and prophesied concerning the destinies of the members of her year. Her course has been Honor English and History.

FRED. W. DEUTSCHMAN

*"In every rank, or great, or small,
'Tis industry supports us all."*

Hails from Hanover, Ont. He received his High School training at Harriston, Ont., and finally landed on the "Old Ontario Strand" with the Freshman Class in 1903. Having a first-class certificate, and also some subjects off extra-murally before entering he could well afford to stay out a year, which he did in his Sophomore year. His course is German and Political Science.

RODERICK DINGWALL

"Alone I did it."

Was born in Cornwall, where he received his preliminary education at the local Public and High Schools, winning the silver medal for general proficiency in the county examination for entrance to High Schools and the Williamson Scholarship No. 2, in French, Latin and Greek, on his Matriculation examination. Choosing Latin and Greek as his options, he has kept up his reputation by winning the medal in Greek, as well as the Professor's Prize in the same subject.

JEAN DONALD.

"Two years ago she flunked lightly through Math."

Miss Donald, whose home is now in Montreal, entered Queen's with the year '07, coming from Belleville High School. By her artistic talent she rendered valuable assistance in many ways to the year and other College organizations. During both her Junior and final years Miss Donald was a member of the Executive of the Dramatic Club.

CHARLES S. DUNHAM.

*"The mouse that always trusts to one poor hole
Can never be a mouse of any soul."*

This aspirant after a double degree was born in Frankville, Ont., and received his preparatory course at Athens High School previous to entering Queen's with the famous class. He used to attend our meetings regularly, but became the servant of two masters, and gradually drifted to Medicine. Charlie is another of the boys who will sport a B.A., M.D. in a couple more years.

ROY C. EASSON

"Deep, sir, deep; but devilish sly."

Entered Queen's in 1904 on a Senior leaving certificate. His home is in Stratford, where he attended Collegiate. His course at College has been brilliant, his forte being Botany and Chemistry. The year can thank him, along with many others, for the help he gave her in capturing the University Year Championship in the Athletic Games.

HENRY E. ELLIOTT.

"I, the heir of all the ages, in the foremost files of time."

Born in Forest, Ont., and educated in the local High School, H. E. began his experience in life as a Public School-master. He put in two years at Toronto University, and continued his course by coming east to Queen's in the autumn of 1906, where he fully imbibed the Queen's spirit, the thirst for which he had received through a year's extra-mural work while teaching.

DOUGLAS ELLIS,

"No wonder such accomplishments Should turn the female heads."

"Venit risit vicit."

Born and educated in Kingston. In the several societies, on the campus and in the class Doug has been a hard and earnest worker. While securing his honor course in Mathematics he has served as Committeeman for Arts on the A. M. S. Executive, '04-'05; captained the third hockey team the same year, was manager of the second hockey team the following year, and manager of second football team in 1906. He was also active in the '07 track sports.

RICHARD JOHN ELLIS.

"I like to speak and lucubrate my fill."

Born in Ellisville, Ont., and educated in the local Public School and Athens High School, Dick became wielder of the birch rod in the home school. After graduating from Ottawa Normal School, he entered Queen's in '03 to take a B.A., M.D. course. He has served as Constable of the Court in '03-'04; Committeeman of the A. M. S., '05-'06, and played on the third, second and first Rugby teams. He was Business Manager for the Year-Book.

W. J. FEASBY

"A stoic of the woods—a man without a tear."

Is another of the men whose college training began outside the College walls. Jim's home is in Toronto, where he attended Harbord Street Collegiate Institute. His thoughts turned to teaching in his early years, and he put in some time in Public Schools of Simcoe and York Counties. Normal College was the next stage in his development, from which he graduated in 1903. But his success in extra-mural work enticed him to Queen's in 1905, where he has made a special study of Modern Languages.

JAMES D. FERGUESON.

"His cogitative faculties immersed In cogibuty of cogitation."

From a small village in Eastern Ontario, called Prospect, a young man came forth to try his luck in the world. Starting at Carleton High School, this youth, after taking a professional training at Winnipeg Normal College, taught school for a number of years. He entered Queen's in 1903. His course is English and History. He was the representative of the year on Arts Society Executive for session of '05-'06

JESSIE FOSTER.

Miss Foster, whose home is in Welland, Ont., obtained her early education at the High School of her native town, at St. Catharines Collegiate Institute, and at the University of Toronto. She taught six years in Welland High School, and was Associate Examiner in the Educational Department, Toronto, for three years. In October, 1905, Miss Foster entered Queen's University, where she pursued a general Arts course.

B. LOUISE FOSTER.

Born in Smith's Falls and graduating from the High School there, Miss Foster joined the famous year of '07 in its Sophomore Year. On her entrance to Queen's she won three scholarships, and during her first year at College a prize in Latin. In her Junior year Miss Foster was Senior Curator of the Y. W. C. A., but was unable to return to College for Naughty-Seventeen's final year.

DONALD JOHN FRASER

"Soft eyes looked love to eyes which spake again."

Began life in Whitby, Ont., where he received his Public and High School education, graduating from the local Collegiate with Senior Matriculation. After some experience in teaching he entered Queen's in 1904 to join our class. Honor Mathematics is his course. He served the Concursus as Constable in '05-'06, and Sheriff, '06-'07, and was elected President of our final year. On the forward line of our Rugby football team Don. got in some good work.

E. L. FULLER

"But I—that am not shaped for sportive tricks."

Is one of the numerous graduates of Ottawa Normal College. He comes from London, Ont., where he received his early training in German and French. Coming to Queen's in 1905 on a Senior leaving, and with some work off extra-murally, he continued his study of the modern languages, where his "shining" qualities are conspicuous.

THOMAS J. GOODFELLOW

*"A solemn youth, with sober phiz,
Who eats his grub and minds his biz."*

Comes from a very noted little place—noted because of its situation on the K. & P. R.—Parham. He attended Sydenham High School, and entered Queen's in 1903. In his first two years he was conspicuous by his silence in the year meetings, but in his last two years he was conspicuous by his absence. He is taking the B.A., M.D. six-year course, and no doubt will make a "good" doctor.

EDITH M. GREENE.

"A great big girl like me."

Miss Greene, a graduate from the Brockville Collegiate, attended Trinity University for a year before coming to Queen's in September, 1904. Joining '07 in its Sophomore Year, she has since been an energetic worker, having represented the Levana Society on the Athletic Committee for one year, and had charge of the Silver Bay work in the Y. W. C. A. in her final year. Miss Greene has also been a member of the Year-Book editorial staff.

JOHN IRWIN GROVER.

"And of menne as meeke as was a maide."

From the beginning this young man made himself heard. Deciding that to climb the ladder of fame was too slow, John would have taken the elevator, only missed it. Trinity College was his next move, and after receiving the finishing touches at Hillcroft Academy, he entered Queen's in '03. In the capacity of Junior Judge the world saw his ability displayed in his official capacity.

EDWARD HANNA

*"His promises he ne'er forgot,
But took memorials on the spot."*

Is one of our Toronto men, who came to Queen's in 1905, with some extra-mural work off. After leaving Harbord Street Collegiate Institute, Ed. taught in Simcoe County, and after a term at Normal in 1903, he again practised this profession in Huron County. He was one of our best Modern students, and was a good worker in the year matters. Ed. was Secretary-Treasurer of the Glee Club, and Managing Editor of the Journal in his final year.

MAY B. HISCOCK.

*"She's the smallest of the children
In the dear old lady's shoe."*

Miss Hiscock, whose home is in Kingston, received her preliminary education at the Kingston Collegiate. She entered Queen's in the fall of 1903 to pursue an honor course in English and History. During her Senior Year she was Senior Curator of the Levana Society, and convener of the Musical Committee in the Y. W. C. A., and throughout her whole course was an active member of both societies.

WILFRED H. HOUSER

"A man of parts and of stern determination."

Comes from Canboro', Ont. He entered Queen's from Dunnville High School in 1903, joining the Freshman class in Science. After spending two years on the Civil Engineering course, he was enticed to branch off on an Arts course, to follow up Honor Mathematics. Houser played on the Intercollegiate Champion Third Rugby Football team in his final year, receiving, along with the rest of the team, a Q2.

JOHN ALEXANDER HOUSTON

"Worth makes the man."

Is another of our boys from Belleville. Educated in the local Public Schools and Albert College, he entered Queen's with '07, and immediately began an honor course in Biology and Chemistry. John has taken an active interest in sports, holding the Vice-Presidency of the Association Football Club and playing for two years on Queen's II. Rugby team.

JOHN S. HUFF.

"He is not very tall—but!"

What we have to say of John will be "short and sweet." He is a native of Meaford, Ont., where he attended High School. Receiving a Senior leaving certificate, he taught school two years, and then joined '07 in 1904. At College John filled the position of editor (for exchanges) of the Journal very ably in his final year.

DENNIS JORDAN.

*"There's ae wee fau't they whyles lay to me—
I like the lassies, God forgie me!"*

Born in Bradford, Yorkshire, England, this young man came to Canada with his parents, and was further developed in Strathroy Public School and Kingston Collegiate. He is specializing in Chemistry and Biology previous to a course in Medicine. Dennis has been one of the most active workers in the year organization, and during his course has filled the offices of Secretary in '03-'04, Assistant Business Manager of the Journal, '04-'05; Clerk of the Court and member of the Athletic Committee, '05-'06, and Manager of the Dramatic Club, '06-'07.

CHARLES E. JOYCE

"Quite capable of bearing up 'Rafters.'"

Hails from Bronte, a little village in the garden of the Dominion—Niagara Peninsula. He attended Collegiate at both Hamilton and Oakville, and on receiving his Leaving he taught school both in Ontario and Saskatchewan. But he had meanwhile been studying extra-murally, and this led him to come to "the Strand" in 1905. He is taking the general B.A. course.

WILLIAM WALKER KENNEDY

"Go west, young man; go west!"

Hails from Westport, Ont. He received his early education in Athens High School, after which he entered Queen's, and began work on an English and Political Economy course, with the famous '07 crowd. But, alas! he never finished. He went West to stay in the summer of 1906, and is now taking an LL.B. course in Manitoba University.

ANDREW LAING

"Thus men grow wiser every day."

Was born in the winter time near the village of Plainville, Ont. He passed the entrance in 1893, graduated from Port Hope Collegiate in 1902, and landed at Kingston on September 30, 1903, to continue his speedy development in the higher courts of learning. His training in Philosophy will be of great advantage in the Divinity course, to which he looks forward.

ALBERT LETHERLAND

"A strappin' youth, he tak's the mither's e'e."

Is one of our worthiest athletes. His home is in Elginburg, Ont., but he attended Collegiate in Kingston, and after graduating in 1905, entered Queen's. His positions held are all requiring athletic training—Constable in Second Year, Marshal in Third Year. Besides these, he has been a member of the Track Club every year, acting as a Committeeman one year in the club, and Vice-President of it another. His course is the B.A., M.D. six-year course.

CHARLES WILMOT LIVINGSTON

"He is a man some women like."

Is another of the sterling men Kingston is giving to Queen's, and Queen's to the world. Kingston's Public Schools and Collegiate Institute and Queen's have been the mothering influences of Charlie's educational aspirations. On leaving the Collegiate, he took with him the Watkins Scholarship in Senior Matriculation, and since entering Queen's has proceeded at the same pace toward his degree. He holds the Treasurership of the Arts Society in this his final year.

ANNIE M. MACARTHUR.

"Of her own gentle voice afraid."

Born in Washburn, Ont., Miss Macarthur attended the Kingston Collegiate Institute, from which she graduated in 1904, to join the Sophomore Year of "Naughty-Seven." On her entrance to Queen's, she won a scholarship in French, German and Latin, and has since turned her attention to the study of French and German. Miss Macarthur aided the Programme Committees of both the year and the Levana Society by her musical abilities on many occasions.

ELEANOR M. MACDONNELL.

"Oh, how I wish I could close up like a telescope."

Miss Macdonnell, being a native of Kingston, matriculated from the Collegiate there, and entered Queen's with the year Naughty-Seven. In her Sophomore Year she was Prophetess of '07, and throughout her course rendered much valuable assistance to College societies by her musical talents. In her Junior Year Miss Macdonnell was Treasurer of the Levana Society.

ANNIE STEWART MACFARLANE.

"I don't know anything!"

Miss Macfarlane, whose home is in Franktown, entered Queen's University in October, 1903, having received her previous education by private tutoring, and in Carleton Place High School. She was a very active member of both the Y. W. C. A. and Levana, holding the position of Vice-President of the Y. W. C. A. in her Junior Year, and that of President in her final year. She was also Prophet-Historian of the Levana Society in her third year.

MARY BROCK MACFARLANE.

"A woman's affections are not to be had for the asking."

Coming from Franktown, Ont., Miss Mary Macfarlane joined '07 in its Sophomore Year, having been educated by private tuition and in the Carleton Place High School. She chose an honor course in French and English, but unfortunately was unable to attend College for the final year of her class. During her Junior Year she filled the offices of Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and Poetess for the year.

ISABEL STEWART MacINNES.

*"For e'en though vanquished,
She could argue still."*

Graduating from the Collegiate Institute at Vankleek Hill, Miss MacInnes came to Queen's in the fall of 1904, joining the year '07 as a "Freshy-Soph." In the session of 1905-06 she was President of the Ladies' Glee Club, Year-Prophetess, and a member of the Y. W. C. A. Executive, while as a Senior she held the position of an Editor on the Journal staff, and also of Associate Editor of the Year-Book. During each year of her course Miss MacInnes took part in the Inter-year debates in the Levana Society, thus assisting '07 to win the Debating Cup.

MURDOCH MATHESON

*"His wisdom was beyond repute,
And all the girls said, 'Isn't he cute!'"*

Is one of the Bruce County aggregation attending Queen's, being a native of the town of Armow, Ont. Receiving his Senior leaving from Kincardine High School in 1902, he taught two years in Holymood. He found himself at Queen's in 1904, where he entered on the study of English and History. He was elected President of '07 in 1905-06, and Vice-President of the Alma Mater in his final year. He served also on the Concursus as Senior Prosecuting Attorney, and also in the Y. M. C. A. as Vice-President.

DAISY M. MAXWELL.

"Of manners meek and unassuming."

Miss Maxwell, whose home is in Kingston, Ont., after graduating from the Kingston Collegiate Institute, entered Queen's in the fall of 1904, and joined '07 as a Sophomore. Throughout her course she devoted her time to the study of English and French in particular. Miss Maxwell assisted very frequently in "Naughty-Seven" year meetings by her abilities as a pianist.

JOHN McASKILE.

"Write me as one who loves his fellow-men"

Highgate, Ont.—that's where John comes from. Ridgeway Collegiate and the local Model School prepared him to train little feet for the preliminary advances in academic life and incidentally to use the modernized birch rod on the more mature who got out of step. John's soul sought still greater things, so he came to Queen's to join '07 Arts in October, 1904. True worth and steady work has won for him good standing in his classes, and the Presidency of the Arts Society in his final year.

JAMES FREDERIC McCALLUM.

"Jim is a bright boy—do you know Jim?"

Brewer's Mills is the town responsible for this youth's presence among us. From her Public School she sent him to Gananoque High School, from which he secured his Matriculation. He entered old Queen's when the Class of '07 was born, and has since been energetically carving out his destiny on the plains of Political Science preparatory to a course in law. Jim knows a good sermon when he hears it.

JOHN M. MacGILLIVRAY

*"That man that hath a tongue, I say, is no man,
If with that tongue he cannot win a woman."*

Was born at Picton and educated in the local High School. As Librarian of the Y. M. C. A. in his Freshman year, Secretary of the Arts Society in her Sophomore Year, Vice-President of the Political Science Club, Arts editor of the Journal and Year-Book and Committeeman on the A. M. S., John has served his year and Alma Mater to the satisfaction of everyone. With an honor course under "Adam" and "Watty," we expect to hear great things of John in the Pulpit world.

GEORGE LESLIE McINNES.

"But, by your leave, my learned friends, Ye're maybe wrang."

Making his entrance to this arena of struggles at Vankleek Hill, this young man had his early aspirations for knowledge cultivated at the local Collegiate, and entered Queen's with the Class of '07 in her Freshman year. Getting his Geometry, with a few other supplies, at Uglow's, and his experience at year meetings, G. L. has kept up an active interest in the year and College affairs at large.

W. D. MacINTOSH,

*"Gazing on the youth before us there,
We could but note the whiteness of his hair."*

Born on a farm in North Bruce, received his preliminary training at Port Elgin High School. In 1903 he came to Queen's and has since taken an interest in many phases of College life. In his Third Year "Mac" was Orator of the year. He acted on the Executive of the Missionary Association, the Y. M. C. A., and the Arts Society. "Mac" is on the general B.A. course, in preparation for the ministry.

MINNIE B. MacKAY.

"For I never knew so young a body with so old a head."

Miss MacKay entered Queen's in the year of 1904, coming from Smith's Falls, where she received her preparatory education. Miss MacKay was Treasurer of Y. W. C. A. during the session of 1905-06, a member of the Y. W. C. A. and Levana Executives in 1906-'07, and in her Junior Year was sent by the Y. W. C. A. as a delegate to the Silver Bay convention.

WINEWOOD F. MacKENZIE.

"Half cordial, half cool in her manner."

Miss MacKenzie is a Western Ontario girl, whose home is in St. Thomas. Coming to Queen's in the fall of 1903, she joined '07 in its Freshman Year. Being the fortunate possessor of a fine voice, Miss MacKenzie has given much pleasure by her singing in the year and other College societies.

DONALDA M. McKERACHER

"The slow, wise smile."

Miss McKeracher joined the year of 1907 in the autumn of 1905, after graduating from Dutton High School, where she received a special award for general proficiency from Toronto University, and the Leitch Memorial No. 1 from Queen's. She chose a specialist's course in English and History. In the session of 1906-07 Miss McKeracher held the office of Vice-President of the Y. W. C. A.

GEORGE W. MacKINNON.

"Maintain the place where thou standest."

Beaverton Public School and Harbord C. I., of Toronto, nursed this young man's early thirst for knowledge, the latter giving him honors in Latin and Greek with his Senior leaving certificate. Entering Queen's with the Class of '07, G. W. followed his bent for the classics. Going West in 1906, he has since been teaching in Revelstoke High School, in British Columbia.

MARY McMICHAEL.

"Grave in mien and wise in looks, Hates frivolity, loves her books."

Miss McMichael, whose home is in Williamsville, Ont., attended the Kingston Collegiate Institute, and on her graduation from there entered Queen's in the fall of 1903. She joined the year '07, and has since shown a keen interest in everything connected with the College, and more especially with her own year. Miss McMichael chose a specialist course in French and German.

PETER GORDON McPHERSON.

"A moral, sensible and well-bred man."

P. G. makes himself at home at Queen's, but he bade his parents good-bye at Bolsover, Ont., when he left for Lindsay. Entering College in the Sophomore Year of his class, he chose Literature and Philosophy as his course. A most efficient President of the College Y. M. C. A., and convener of the Bible Study Committee, gave us the opportunity of knowing whom to elect for the permanent President of our year organization.

ANDREW R. McRAE

*"Yet nations now unborn will know
The record of his deathless name."*

Comes to us from the town of Ayr, Ontario. He received his education at the local Public School and Paris High School, after which he graduated as a pedagogue from Fergus Model School. While wielding the birch rod and "teaching the young idea how to shoot," he took off two years' work extra-murally, and, entering College, he joined this famous year in January, 1906.

EDNA ALEXANDRIA MILLAR.

*"I love its gentle music, I love its easy flow,
I love to wind my tongue up, I love to hear it go."*

Miss Millar came from the historic town of Belleville, where she attended the Collegiate Institute, winning there two scholarships in French and German—one from Trinity University, and one from Queen's. She entered Queen's in the Sophomore Year of '07, determining upon a specialist course in French, German and English. Miss Millar has always been an interested worker in the year, Y. W. C. A. and Levana, being Prophetess of the Senior Year, Poetess of the Levana, and also a member of the Executives of the Y. W. C. A. and Dramatic Club, and permanent Historian of the year.

FRANCES W. MILLS.

"I love vast libraries."

Miss Mills, who is fortunate enough to be a native of the Limestone City, graduated from the Kingston Collegiate, and entered Queen's in the year 1903, joining '07 as a Freshette. Miss Mills turned her attention more particularly to the study of English throughout her course, although not devoting herself entirely to that more strenuous side of the life at Queen's.

EDNA BEATRICE MITCHELL.

"The very pink of courtesy."

Miss Mitchell received her primary education at the Kingston Collegiate, being a Kingston girl. She entered the University in September, 1903, and was Vice-President of the year '07 during that session. Miss Mitchell was not in College for our Sophomore Year, but has again joined us, taking classes in French and English.

JESSIE MUIR.

Miss Muir, of Almonte, Ontario, received her preparatory education at Arnprior High School; then she attended the Ottawa Normal School, where she won the gold medal in 1901. Previous to her entry to Queen's, Miss Muir took extra-mural work for two years and a half, and came to the University to resume her course of studies in January, 1907.

JEAN MUNRO.

Miss Munro came from Chesterville to the Kingston Collegiate, and after graduating from there, entered the University in 1904, remaining for but one year. Miss Munro is now teaching at Bently, Alberta.

MABEL E. NESBITT.

"Who scorns delights, and lives laborious days."

Miss Nesbitt, a Kingstonian, graduated from the Kingston Collegiate in the year of 1903, and entered College that fall as a "Naughty-Seven" Freshette. While at Queen's Miss Nesbitt was not unattentive to the sterner side of College life, but was always ready also to support the year in its undertakings, although not taking an active part in the management of its affairs.

JAMES POLSON,

"Like Elijah, he departed from our midst."

A native of Kingston, came to Queen's in 1903, after spending a few years at Kingston Collegiate Institute. He was elected President of the year in his First Year, but owing to illness, could not return to join the class in her subsequent and glorious career. Jim, however, is preparing himself, extra-murally, to be a doctor.

M. EDNA M. POOLE.

"A chiel's amang us, takin' notes."

Born at Poole's Resort, Ont., Miss Poole graduated from the Brockville Collegiate, and entered Queen's with the inception of the year '07. She held the positions of Secretary of the Levana Society and Poetess of the year in her Sophomore Year, and in her final year took part in an Inter-year debate. Miss Poole was also a member of the Dramatic Club Executive during her third and final years, taking the part of Maria in the presentation of "Twelfth Night," in 1906.

PAULINE I. PRATT.

*"Do you think I want love or such finicking stuff?
Be off! I must go to my classes."*

Miss Pratt, whose present home is in Toronto, was educated at the Peterborough Collegiate. After graduating from there she entered Queen's in the fall of 1903, joining the Class of '07. In her Sophomore Year she was one of the debaters in the Inter-year contest for the Levana Trophy.

RIXON RAFTER.

"There's wit there, ye'll get there, Ye'll find nae other where."

This humorous youth hails from Arthur, Ont. He received his early education in the Ontario Institute for the Blind, subsequently securing his Matriculation from Hillcroft Academy. He entered Queen's with the Class of '07, to take a deep interest in all the events of his year and Alma Mater. Rixon will do ample justice to our wise diplomacy and heroic deeds in the history of our final year.

JEAN G. REID.

"Up, up, my friend, and quit your books, or surely you'll growe double."

Miss Reid, of Renfrew, Ont., graduated from the High School of that town, winning the Mayor Scholarship in Latin, French and German. Entering Queen's as a Sophomore, Miss Reid chose a specialist course in English, French and German. But she still found time to enter into the social life of Queen's, in all its phases, more especially that of skating.

BYRON CLARENCE REYNOLDS.

"And when his medicines do no good, Supports their minds with heavenly food."

This exuberant youth was born at Alberton, Prince Edward Island, and, like all Methodist parsons' sons, received his early education from the many Public Schools of his father's itinerary. Kemptville is his present address, and Athens was his High School. Taking a B.A., M.D. course, Byron is specializing in Biology and Chemistry.

LILLIAN M. REYNOLDS.

Miss Reynolds came to us from Kemptville, Ont. She received her preparatory education at Athens High School, and entered Queen's with the Freshmen of 1903. She chose a modest pass course for her domain in Arts.

ALEXANDER RINTOUL

"Such a solemn unbending of the vertebral column."

Was born on a farm near Tatlock, Ont., where he received his common school education. Almonte High School then received him, but soon gave him a certificate to teach school, by means of which profession he succeeded in "stepping" into College. Alex. was Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in his Sophomore Year, and acted as Secretary of '07 Class in Junior Year, in both of which he displayed great energy and faithfulness.

DAVID ROBB.

"With the smile that was child-like and bland"

This youth, whose home is in Battersea, Ont., was a student at Kingston Collegiate, and Sydenham High School, at a very early age. He received a Scholarship from the latter place, and joined the infant class of '07. Choosing the B.A., M.D. Course, his classes took him over to the Medical Building during the last two years, but nevertheless he has remained a staunch '07 man.

J. C. ROBINSON.

"I never use a big, big D—."

The hub of the universe lost one of its main spokes when J. C. dropped everything (but the girls) to come to Queen's. Born at Nobleton, Ont., where he received an elementary education, he entered business early in life, but left this to enter the ministry, and immediately began mission work in Manitoba, and incidentally secured his matriculation at Manitoba College. He entered Queen's, where he took off three years of his Arts Course with us, but is still on the mission he took last summer.

C. COURTNEY SALISBURY

*"Had at the time some dainty fair one
To wear his theologic care on."*

Was reared and educated at Watford, Ont. After graduating from High School in his native town he became a Freshman at Queen's in 1903. Like some others of his classmates the philosophy of Kant and Hegel appealed to him, in which subject he determined to specialize. He held the position of orator in his final year, and showed that some day would find him the orator in one of our city churches.

CARRIE L. SCOTT.

*"A little learning, scattered o'er
A frolic of three years or more,
Then—Presto, change!—and you create
The sober College graduate."*

Miss Scott came to Queen's after graduating from the Napanee Collegiate, and has been a member of the year '07 from its beginning, taking an Honor course in French and German. In her final year she held the offices of Poetess of the year, and President of the "Residence."

JOHN A. SHAVER.

"He was a leader of a double life."

Another of our famous school-teachers. Hails from Morewood, Ont. After graduating from Morrisburg Collegiate he spent a number of years teaching school. In 1903, however, John entered Queen's, and has since been overcoming many difficulties to get an education. He was orator of this year in Second Year, Chief Justice of Arts Concursus, and Secretary of Y.M.C.A. in his final year.

JAMES M. SHAVER

*"And when a lady's in the case
You know all other things give place."*

Comes from Grantley, Ont. He attended that famous C.I. in Morrisburg, and afterwards taught for two years. "Jim" then became a Methodist missionary. Later he took shelter among his Presbyterian brethren at Queen's in 1903, where he studied philosophy. He was Historian of the Class in his Sophomore Year, Vice President of the Arts Society in Junior Year, and Chief Constable in the Arts Concursus in First Year. He also filled the position of Arts Editor for the Yearbook.

LUELLA SHIELDS.

Miss Shields was a member of '07 in its Freshman and Sophomore years, being at that time a temporary resident of Kingston. Before coming to Queen's she attended Ladies' College in Ottawa. Though having returned to her home in Lansdowne, Miss Shields has not entirely severed her connection with Queen's and '07, but has come in for many of the College functions.

EDNA SPOTSWOOD.

*"My temples throb, my pulses boil,
I'm sick of song and ode and ballad,
So take away the midnight oil
And pour it on the lobster salad."*

Miss Spotswood, whose home is in Riceville, Ont., was educated at the Alexandria High School, from which she matriculated in 1903, winning the McLennan, Glengarry and the Nicholls No. 2 Scholarships. Upon entering Queen's she was given the duties of Junior Curator of the Levana, and in her final year held a position on the Business Committee of the Journal Staff, and was elected Vice-President of the Year.

LILY D. STEWART.

*"Here the heart may give a useful lesson to the head,
And learning wiser, grow without her books."*

Born in Waba, Ont., Miss Stewart was educated at the Carleton Place and Renfrew High Schools. In the fall of 1903 she entered Queen's, joining the Freshman Year. During her course she held offices in the year, the Y. W. C. A., and the Levana Executives, acting as Vice-President of '07 in her Junior Year, and Prophetess of Levana in her final year.

WILLIAM STOTT

"When I beheld this, I sighed and said within myself: 'Surely mortal man is a broomstick!'"

Was born in Kirkwall, Orkney, Scotland. He emigrated to New Westminster, B.C., when quite young, and there received his preliminary education in the High School and Columbian College. In 1904 he came east and entered College. "Bill" has been a faithful supporter of the year, being elected the permanent Secretary of his class and business manager of the Year-Book. He was also Secretary of the Missionary Association for two years.

THOMAS D. THOMPSON.

"Wrote rhymes, sang songs, could also tell a story, Sold pictures, but, alas! he couldn't dance."

Having received his early education at Athens High School and experience as book agent, this fair youth with ministerial intentions took a course in the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. He only attended Queen's for two terms, during which time, however, he composed the year song (didn't you know we had one?), and acted as constable for the court. He is now partner and secretary of the Inter-Ocean Real Estate Company in Winnipeg.

NORMAN L. TURNER.

"But ye have departed from your first love."

Born in Hamilton and educated in the local Collegiate, Norman came east for his college course just in time to join the illustrious band. Throwing in his lot with the Class of '07, he occasionally added to the interest of our Freshman year meetings by presiding at the piano. But he, too, allowed his first love to cool, and spent his last years in the Science buildings, and now expects to graduate in Mineralogy and Chemistry.

SAMUEL ARNOLD WALLACE.

"Maybe ye'll tak' a thought and men!"

Several years ago there was born on Fox Hollow Farm, on the Queen's Line, Ont., a little boy. Sammie (for that was his name) was sent to school at an early age, and soon displayed his ability in Renfrew High School. Further development awaited him at Queen's, where his keen wit found ample scope. Sammie was noted as a true sport, and an honest student. He was Marshal of the year in his Second Year.

WILLIAM GORDON WALLACE.

"Still I'm learning"

This curly-haired son of a doctor was born at Metcalfe, Ont., where he received his early education, securing honors and the Mowat Scholarship with his Junior leaving. From here he wandered to Kemptville High School, where he secured honors in Mathematics in his Senior leaving. Since entering Queen's in 1904 he has followed the same pace in a B.A., M.D. course, securing the Graduates' Prize in Junior Chemistry. He attended our year meetings some, too.

MAUD WEAVER.

"Ho, for the wild and woolly West!"

Miss Maud Weaver entered Queen's in Naughty-Seven's infant year, coming from her home in Trenton, Ont., where she had attended the High School. During the session of 1905-06 she held the office of convener of the Athletic Committee in the Levana Society. Unfortunately, Miss Weaver was unable to attend College for the final year of her class.

JEAN KIRKHOPE BERTRAM.

"Wooed and married and a'!"

Miss Bertram, a native of Dundas, Ont., entered Queen's University in the year of the inception of "Naughty-Seven." After attending College for three years, Miss Bertram decided to study "Domestic Science," so was unable to attend College during the final year of '07.

EGERTON TORRANCE

*"And we must take the current when it serves,
Or lose our ventures."*

Began this earthly struggle at Milverton, Ont., receiving his early education at the local Public School and Tillsonburg High School. He, too, heard the call of the wild and woolly West, and became a rancher on the plains, but returned to academic atmosphere by joining us in 1903, which he breathed for only one year, and is now with the railroad contractors at Blaine, Washington, U.S.A.

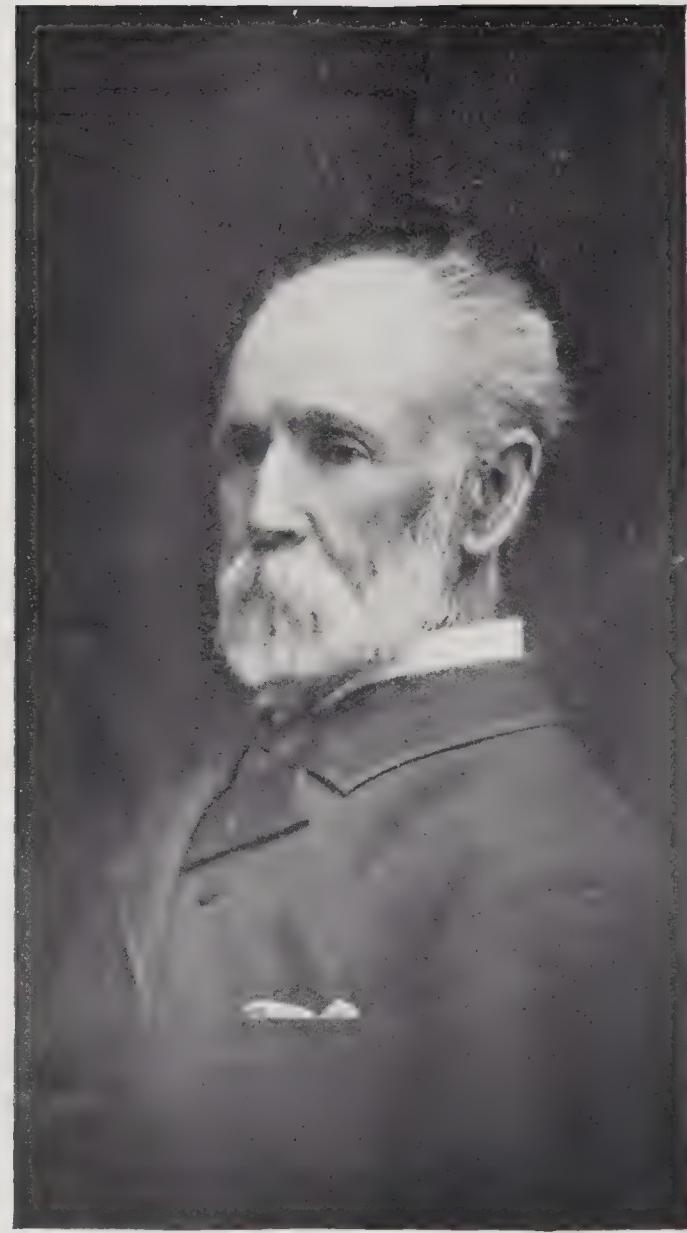

VIEW FROM TOWER OF GRANT HALL.

SCIENCE

PROF. GOODWIN,
Director of School of Mining.

PROF. DUPUIS,
Dean of Science Faculty.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY EXECUTIVE, QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY, 1906-07

A. G. Stewart,
President

A. C. Young,
Asst. Pres.

F. Ransome,
Genl. Secy.

J. D. Calvin, B.A.,
Secy.

D. Ferguson,
Fin. Secy.

R. Hutchison,
Genl. Secy.

C. Orford,
2nd Vice-Pres.

Prof. McPhail,
Hon. President

J. L. King,
President

G. J. McKay,
1st Vice Pres.

W. M. Harding,
Secretary

The Engineering Society

UNTIL the year 1897 the Science Faculty had no undergraduate society. In that year, however, the need of such an organization being felt, the Engineering Society was formed, some fifteen members being enrolled. Since that time the Society has grown, slowly at first, but of late years by leaps and bounds, so that now the total membership runs up over two hundred and fifty. With this growth has come a corresponding increase in influence, which has spread far beyond the bounds of the University. A resolution passed by the Society in 1902 was not without its effect in the Ontario Legislature, when that body was discussing a bill of vital interest to the engineering profession.

The objects of the Society were, to quote the constitution—"To control all matters affecting the interests of the students in Science." "To serve as a medium of communication between the members of the Society and the governing bodies of the University or any recognized society." "To control the collection and disbursement of all moneys contributed by its members or otherwise accruing." "To promote the general interests of the University." "To control and supervise the Vigilance Committee in the performance of its duties." The above extract will give a glimpse of the true democratic spirit which pervades the Science Faculty, and in fact the whole University.

AT CAMP BEDFORD

'07 ENGINEERING FIELD CAMP

Meetings are held on the first and third Fridays of each month for the transaction of business and the reading and discussion of papers prepared by students, professors and outside engineers.

Two social events are contributed by the Society during the college year: the Science Dinner and the Science Dance.

This year the Dinner was held for the first time in Grant Hall, and was even more of a success than formerly. It was established with a two-fold object in view: first, to bring some of the leading engineers of our country into touch with the University and its work, and secondly, to broaden the student by bringing him into contact with live, active men, who know and appreciate the actual conditions that confront the engineer in the field. Results show that the dinner is indeed fulfilling its object, and it is now an event of no small importance in the life of the Science student.

The Dance—our dance, the Science man says it with a just pride—has ever been the most popular social event of the season. Held as it is, in February, it is not without its value as a relaxation before the heavy spring work is entered upon.

The most important standing committee of the Society is that in charge of the employment bureau. This was organized with a view to helping both undergraduates and graduates in obtaining employment either for vacation or permanently. This committee consists of four members—one from each year—and a permanent secretary.

Another important committee is the Vigilance Committee, whose duty it is to mete out punishment to such as break the written and unwritten laws of Science Hall. Through them, many a bombastic Freshman has been shown the error of his ways and led to a proper understanding of his position and place in the student body. Future Freshmen, read and take warning!

There has been a tendency to overrate the good that may come from papers being read before the Society. The true value of such an organization, as an educational factor, lies not in the reading and discussing of technical papers, which is but an extension of the class-room work; but in the opportunity it gives for those actively working in the Society, both on the executive and on committee to develop their initiative and responsibility. It gives them an opportunity to "manage things" which will be of inestimable value to them in after life. So while technical training is being given in the class-room, the Engineering Society is doing a work vastly more important: that is, developing men.

"Talent," says Goethe, "develops in silence, but character in the stream of life."

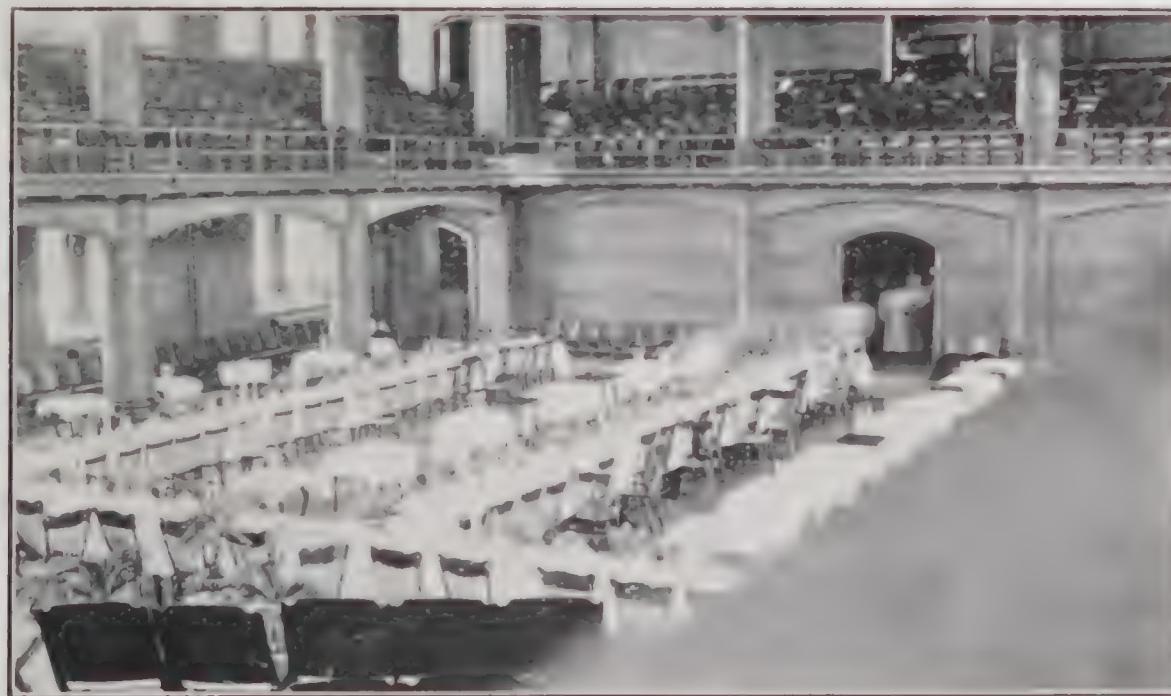

TABLE SPREAD FOR LEGISLATURE IN GRANT HALL.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE OF SCIENCE HALL, 1906-07

J. B. Saint, Constable '09.	F. A. Brewster, Chief of Police.	R. O. Sweezey, Constable '08.
E. J. Whitmarsh, Constable '10.	E. L. Bruce, Constable '09.	A. W. Fares, Constable '10.	W. C. McGinnis, Constable '07.	R. T. Irwin, Sheriff.	D. W. Houston, Constable '07.	F. G. Baker, Constable '08.
L. G. Gleeson, Sr. Pros. Attorney.	H. O. Dempster, Jr. Judge.	G. R. McLaren, Sr. Judge.	T. A. McGinnis, Jr. Pros. Attorney.	B. R. McKay, Clerk.

PROF. MCPHAIL.

PROF. GWILLIM.

PROF. MCPHAIL.

HON. PRESIDENTS '07 SCIENCE

'07 SCIENCE EXECUTIVE (FINAL YEAR)

D. W. Houston,
Secretary.

W. R. Alder,
Marshall.

C. W. Murray,
Historian.

C. J. Curtin,
President.

Prof. J. C. Gwillim,
Hon. President.

H. Matheson,
Vice-President.

'07 Science

THE time has come for us to cast a retrospective glance over the four years of our college life; to think with a smile or a sigh of our successes and our failures, our joys and our sorrows since we first came upon "The Old Ontario Strand."

In the autumn of 1903, a lusty bunch of forty-seven Science Freshmen, we began to search out our ways about the classic halls of Queen's. The thirst for knowledge brought us from all parts of Ontario, from the Eastern Provinces, from the far West, and a few from across the border.

For a time, a very short time, we showed ourselves the usual meek and lamb-like Freshies, but soon we began to display signs of that enthusiastic, irrepressible spirit that carried the day in many a hard-fought scrap, and won for us the sobriquet, "Hoodlum element." A oneness of mind and a follow-your-leader spirit made our class relations pleasant, and our many dashes ever successful.

During our Sophomore and Junior years the same spirit still prevailed, keeping things lively around college. This, while it caused an active, friendly rivalry with the other years, made a pleasant break in the monotony of college life, and toned us up for renewed efforts at our work. So that the "Hoodlums" became well known throughout the University for activity, physical and mental.

Those of us who spent the month of September, 1906 or 1907, in camp at Bedford will long remember the pleasant weeks passed there, the congenial work surveying Thirteen Island Lake and the Bedford Central Railway, the boisterous times in the tents, the cheerful evening hours about the great camp fire, and the closing day's well-contested field sports. The Professor in charge won our hearts during those days, and "G. Y." has ever since been our very good friend.

Last November a number of our class took a trip to see the wonders of nature and of engineering skill at Niagara Falls. Three of the Professors accompanied the party, and our genial Registrar was again with the boys. The power plants were visited, and all the sights taken in to the best advantage. Every one voted the trip well worth while.

As grave and thoughtful Seniors we have looked on with an indulgent smile as the Sophs tapped the Freshies, and some of us have had a twitching of the muscles to be in the middle of the fray. We have felt for the poor Sophs, and Juniors, who had to turn out at six in the morning for a pleasant little drive of forty miles or so, through pouring rain or against chilling wind, on one of "Nick's excursions." And we have been amused at the important air of the boy behind the transit, or the chancers with their "stick" and "stuck" upon "Sandy's" campus.

In college sports we are proud of the leading part taken by the class of Naughty Seven Science. With our Arts and Medical friends, we have held the track athletics championship during the whole four years, a record never before attained by any class at Queen's. In this much credit is due to "Jim" Akins, who has won medals and cups galore, and who has, for the last two years, been champion college athlete. Many of the sturdy men who, of late years, upheld the honor of the Queen's Tricolor in football and in hockey belonged to '07 Science.

In college affairs our class has ever taken a leading part. We have given the Alma Mater Society a president, three vice-presidents, and a critic. No class in college subscribed more liberally to the Gymnasium Fund. All college social functions have been well patronized by our boys, and they have each year taken their full share in making a success of the year "At Home."

The energy and spirit shown in our fun, in college affairs, and in sports, as well as the earnestness displayed where it was due have not been lacking in our work. Naughty seven has not fallen short of the high standard of Practical Science work at Queen's. All put in faithful months in college, and then "rustled for experience" during vacation. We suffered our "pulls" what Science man has not? in Junior English, or Mathematics II., or Physics II., but defeat only spurred us on to greater effort. As K. V. Gardner said:

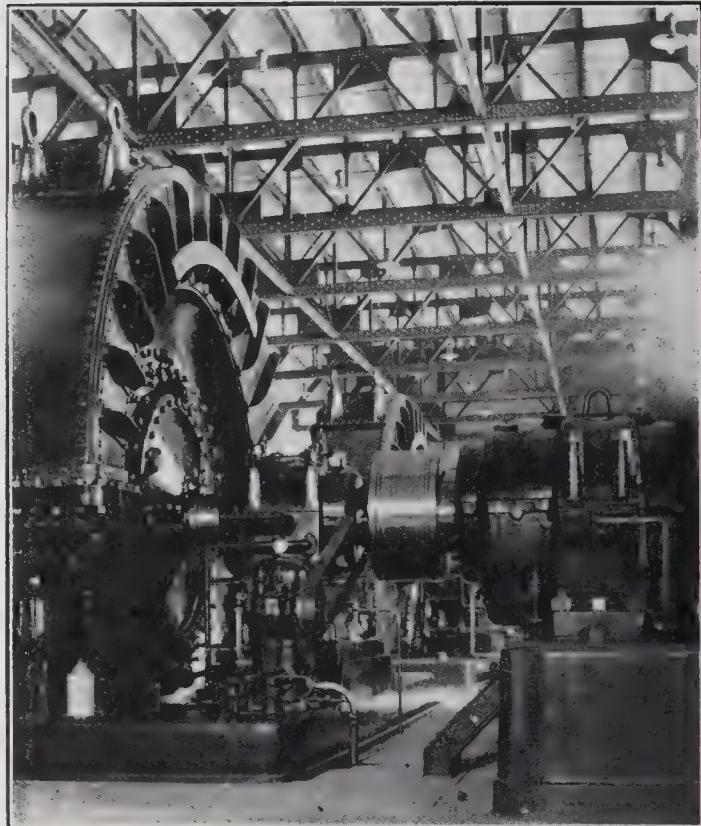

"Who put the clock in Nathan's Tower?
Naughty seven Science!
Who built the bridge on Cesar's Nose?
Naughty seven Science!"

During the past four years all the courses in the School of Mining, and especially that in Civil Engineering, have been much improved, and the staff greatly strengthened. New laboratories have been equipped, and the old ones have been perfected. The classes have increased in size at a surprising rate, over ninety Freshmen entering last fall, so that more accommodation in laboratories and lecture rooms is urgently required.

As we look back over our escapades we cannot but wonder at the forbearance of the kindly gentlemen who have had charge of our intellectual growth, and at their unfailing consideration for our weaknesses and toleration of our blunders. In our after lives the memory of their untiring energy and unflagging zeal will be incentives to us to show the best that is in us, and try to be a credit to our Alma Mater.

And soon "Ricketty, rackety, rum scum!" will sound no more over the college campus, and we shall go out to face the serious work of men in responsible positions. In many a pensive hour we shall dream over our college days, and think of the staunch friends met at Queen's. We shall look forward to the pleasant class reunions, that are now amongst our cherished plans for the dim future.

"Go to your work and be strong, halting not in your ways,
Baulking the end half-won for an instant dole of praise.
Stand to your work and be wise—certain of sword and pen,
Who are neither children nor gods, but men in a world of men!"

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT AT NIAGARA.

CARRUTHERS HALL

JAMES R. AKINS.

James R. Akins, of Kinburn, Ont., received his High School education at Almonte, and taught school four years before coming to Queen's. His course has been Mining Engineering, and he won the Bruce Carruthers Scholarship in his Third Year. He has distinguished himself in athletics, winning the Individual Championship Cup in track athletics the last two years; has played on the Senior Rugby and Basketball teams, and was President of the Track Club and Boxing Club. His popularity is shown by his having been President of the year, Vice-President of the Engineering Society, and a committeeman on the A.M.S. Executive.

WILLIAM R. ALDER.

William R. Alder, from Prescott, Ont., is one of our prospective Mining Engineers. He came to us a green and undeveloped youth, and is leaving, sharp of wit and strong of muscle, able to hold his place amongst men. He has been our Marshal in his final year.

JAMES BARTLETT.

James Bartlett, in the fall of 1899, came to Queen's from Gananoque, Ont., taking Honor standing in his matriculation. He put in the first three years of his mining course, and then went West. After a varied experience at different mines in the copper country, he has returned to finish with the year '07.

JOHN D. CALVIN,

A native of Garden Island, Ont., received his education in Kingston Public School and Collegiate Institute. Having won the Chancellor's Matriculation Scholarship in Mathematics, Jack entered on the B.A. course in 1901, graduating with the Class of 1904. He then joined '07 Science Civils. Though always at, or near, the top of his classes, he gave much time to the various offices which he has been called upon to fill; among which are 2nd Vice-President of the A.M.S., '03-'04, Secretary Eng. Soc., '05-'06, and President A.M.S., '05-'06.

A. STUART CAMPBELL

"What cannot Art and Industry perform, when Science plans the progress of their tool?"

Hails from Stonewall, Manitoba. He joined the "Hoodlums" in the fall of '03, choosing Civil Engineering as his profession. A retiring disposition hindered his claim to service on the executive of the various college societies, but socially he ranked as one of the most popular of his year.

CHARLES J. CURTIN.

B.A. '05. Entered the course of Mining Engineering in the fall of '04. Native of Brockville, he received his preliminary training at the B. H. S. He took the honor course in football and hockey, and was manager for the football champions of '06, and forward of the Senior Hockey Team. Most active in the affairs of his faculty, he was President of his final year, and First Vice-President of the Q. M. S.

ANDREW A. FLEMING.

"With ardor he the buried treasure seeks On lofty mountains and in beds of creeks."

Born in Craighie, Ont., received his High School education at Collingwood, and took Arts in 1902. The following year he entered the School of Mining, joining '07. In the study of Mineralogy and Geology he took greater interest than in any other subject, and hence has made that his course. Although he has held no offices around Queen's, Andy has always taken a keen interest in the affairs of College life.

KEITH V. GARDNER'S

*"I knew him, Horatio; a fellow of infinite jest,
Of most excellent fancy."*

Home is in Ottawa. Before entering College he had some experience in land surveying in Manitoba. He is one of the cheeriest members of the class, ever ready with lively song or witty word. The lures of Cobalt have been too much for K. V., and he has remained there during the last session as super. of the Beaver Mine.

HENRY A. GERMAN

Belongs to the Limestone City. He was educated at the Gananoque High and Model Schools. After teaching school for two years, a desire to delve into the mysteries of electricity brought him to Queen's in October, 1903. We know him as a student of ability and a powerful man on Decoration Committees.

“His hand was on the lever laid,
His oil-can soothed the worrying cranks.”

LEO. J. GLEESON

Owns Kingston as his home, and Regiopolis as his pristine Alma Mater. He was a shining light in his Mechanical course, and during his spare moments strenuously upheld Queen's football glory. He was star half-back of the Senior XIV., and Senior Prosecuting Attorney of his final year.

ROBERT D. GUY,

Native of Camden East, Ont., entered Queen's in the fall of '02, and after completing a brilliant course in Arts, took up the course of Geology in the session of '05-'06. Alluring offers from the legal profession at Winnipeg captured him, and that city gained an ardent worker and an able citizen.

GEORGE H. HERRIOT

Is from the Prairie Province, being a citizen of Souris and a graduate of Brandon Collegiate. He taught school for a time, and then came east in January, 1904, to take Civil Engineering with '07. Though entering late every year but one, he has been one of our shining lights. He was Vice-President during the Junior Year.

DAVID W. HOUSTON

"And even though vanquished he could argue still."

Is a native of Kingston. After taking two years in '01 Arts he removed to Omaha, Nebraska. He took two years with '06 Science, spent one year in the Michigan copper country, and returned to join the year '07. "Dave" has held offices in the Year organization, in the Engineering Society, and in the Alma Mater.

ROLAND T. IRWIN.

Norwich claims this stalwart as one of her sons. He came to us from Norwich High School in October, 1903, and the "Muckers" took him unto themselves. That "Ro" was a mighty one is shown by his holding such offices as Marshal of the year ('04-'05), and Sheriff of the Vigilance Committee ('06-'07). In athletics he made a mark, playing on Junior Rugby Championship team ('06-'07), from which he was boosted up to the 1st team, where he made a reputation as one of the best inside wings in the League.

WILLIAM ERNEST JENKINS

Is a native of Prince Edward Island, and was educated at Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown. His course is in Civil Engineering, and he has been an instructor in draughting, and assistant to the Professor in field engineering during his final year.

DANIEL G. KILBURN

"True happiness consists not in the multitude of friends, but in the worth and choice."

Is from Stratford, where he received his preparatory education. He entered the Civil Engineering course with the Class of '06, but remained out on field work the Third Year. He is a member of Rho Chapter of the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity.

JOHN L. KING,

Born in Edinburgh, Scotland, spent his boyhood in Manitoba. He served his country as a volunteer trooper of the Second C.M.R. through the Boer War. His preparatory education he received in Brandon College. His course at Queen's has been Civil Engineering. John has always been a favorite in college because of his cheerful disposition and his ability as an elocutionist and singer. He was '07's Marshal in the Junior Year, and President of the Engineering Society in the final year. This latter office, being the highest under graduate office a Science student can attain, shows to what extent his abilities have been appreciated by his fellow students.

EDOUARD LAVOIE,

From the Baie St. Paul, P.Q., matriculated from Levis College, and entered Laval University, from which he graduated in Arts in 1903; came to Queen's in October of the same year, and registered in Civil. By his quiet manner and close application to work "Ed." has gained the regard of all.

"Faire sans dire."

FRANCIS STUART LAZIER

Hails from Belleville, Ont. He entered with his Class, and straightway established his position as a stalwart by being elected President of his Freshman year. He was a strong social factor of his college life, and Principal of the Rho Chapter, Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity.

LINDSAY MALCOLM

Claims Stratford, Ont., for his native town. He distinguished his entrance to Queen's by winning the Prince of Wales, the Mowat and Chancellor's Scholarships, while at graduation he captured the Gold Medal in Mathematics. He joined the Civils in the fall of '05. He was Captain of Queen's II. football team for '06-'07.

HUGH MATHESON

"O Caledonia, stern and wild"

Is a native of Bruce County, and took his Senior Leaving from Kincardine Collegiate. For four years he taught a village school, and showed the natives that "He could write and cipher, too." During his course in Mining Engineering he has proved himself one of the ablest men in the Class. He has been Vice-President of the year, and Secretary of the Engineering Society.

FRANKLIN T. McARTHUR

"Hornpipes, ings, strathspeys and reels Put life and mettle in their heels."

Is from Gore Bay, Manitoulin, where he received his High School training. His course in college has been Civil Engineering. Frank is a lover of music and all that pertains to it. He has been a member of the Glee Club, and of the choir of one of the city churches, during his four years here.

DUNCAN F. McEWEN

*"Work is my recreation,
The play of faculty."*

Came from Hensall, Ont.; received his education at Clinton Collegiate Institute, and after spending a couple of years in the Klondyke, entered on a course of Mining Engineering in the fall of 1903. "Scotty" also spent a summer in Cobalt, and will go forth one of our most experienced graduates.

GEORGE R. McLAREN

Was born and educated at Perth, Ont. He remained out during session of '04 and '05, securing valuable experience in the Lake Superior copper country. He was Cobalt's hero in the summer of '06, the lucky discoverer of the first large "strike" on the Government Limits. He was Clerk of the Court, and Senior Judge of his final year.

GEORGE J. MCKAY

Hails from Owen Sound. After passing through Owen Sound Collegiate he taught school for several years, but a desire for better things came upon him, and to Queen's he strayed, where the "Muckers" annexed him. Clear of head and sound of judgment, was it any wonder that George captured the Chancellor's Scholarship in his First Year, and the Bruce Carruthers Scholarship in the Third. In '03-'04 he was Vice-President of the year, and in '06-'07 1st Vice-President of the Engineering Society.

*"Farewell, auld birkie! Lord be near ye,
And then the Deil, he daurna steer ye."*

A. A. MURPHY,

Of Portland, Ont., received his High School training at Athens, Ont., and is one of the favorites of his Class. He has taken the Electrical Course at the School of Mining, and judging from his ability as a student in this course is sure to do well in the practice of his profession.

CHARLES W. MURRAY,

*"But when all else had failed, he'd boast
That he had seen that—at the Coast."*

A native of California, acquired his preliminary education at Mission City, B.C. As he is mechanically inclined and a tasty decorator, he has often lent his skill in making difficult models for the professors, and in decorating the halls for college functions. Charley was Vice-President of '07 during the third term, and Historian in the final year. He is sure to do as much and as many as the ablest of our '07 graduates.

FREDERIC O. ORR.

There was a wide break in the "Hoodlums" when Fred. decided to take up farming in Manitoba. President of his Junior Year, excelling in social life, and a successful and popular student. He was a native of Peterboro', but joins the majority of his Class in the building up of the great West.

STANLEY A. OSTROM

Decided to start life in Alexandria, Ont. There he received his Public School education, and prepared for college in the Alexandria High School. He was one of the many who were fortunate enough to enter Science Hall in the fall of 1903, with the "Hoodlum" element, on a course in Civil Engineering. Stanley was noted for sobriety and devotion. He remained out on railway work during the final session.

WILLIAM ALEXANDER OSWALD.

Pontypool, Ont., witnessed the coming of so great a man as William Alexander Oswald. Lindsay Collegiate Institute sent forth its son to join the ranks of the Electricals at the School of Mining. "Ossy" was ever famous as an athlete, as was evidenced by his nomination to the Track Club Executive in '03-'04.

HUGH MCLEOD PEPPARD.

A Bluenose from Springhill, N.S. After matriculating from the High School in his native town he, in search of the best, naturally came west to the Old Ontario Strand, and Queen's claimed him for her own. G.Y. received him with a glad smile, and registered him in Civil for a consideration. Quiet and unassuming, Hugh is known to all as a diligent and successful student.

"An' it fell when stirris-shaws were sere,
An' the nichts were lang and mirk,
In braw new breeks, wi' a gowden ring,
Oor Jockie gaed tae the Kirk."

ROBERT POTTER

Hails from Toronto, Ont. Primarily educated at Kingston C.L., he entered Arts at Queen's in '09, and for two years revelled at the Pierian Spring. Registered in Civil in fall of '04. He was officer of the Engineering Society and Auditor of the A.M.S. for '05-'07. Ever a good fellow, he was esteemed as one of the most popular of his year.

WM. ROSE ROGERS,

*"We need not tell we liked you well;
Good-bye! good luck to you."*

From Thorndale, Ont. Passed through St. Thomas and Goderich High Schools, and then followed the teaching profession for a year and a half. But his mind turned to engineering, so down he came to Queen's in October, 1903, where he registered in Civil. In '04 and '05 he was Treasurer of the Engineering Society; in '05 and '06, Vice-President of the Glee Club; in '06 and '07, Science Editor of the Journal, and a member of the Musical Committee.

J. MELVILLE SANDS

Was born and brought up in Kingston, where he received his early education. He entered, in the fall of 1903, on the course of Mining Engineering, and exhibited strong tendencies towards Geology. He acted as Secretary of the year in '05-'06. Like many other of our "Muckers," he took an active part in athletics, being captain of '07 basket-ball team for four years.

F. H. TOFFEY,

"Mechanical! Mechanical! Toffey, Gleeson and Laval."

Portland, Ont. After matriculating from Smith Falls High School he identified himself with Gleeson and Laval in the study of Mechanical Engineering at Queen's University. After completing a three years' course he listened to the whisperings of Cupid and joined the ranks of the benedicts.

KARL S. TWITCHELL,

Native of St. Albans, Vt. Came to Queen's in September, '03. Karl did not come in for the session of '06-'07. He was tennis champion of his Freshman Year, and on the executive for three years, and Vice-President of last year. He was on the Journal staff for '05-'06.

WILLIAM J. WOOLSEY

Is a native of Sherbrooke, P.Q. Received his preliminary education at Albert College, Belleville. Engaged several years in the asbestos industry in Quebec, he entered the Mining course at Queen's in the fall of '03. Member of the Debate Committee, the Engineering Society, and Critic of the A.M.S. in his final year. He was Science Editor for the Yearbook.

GEORGE C. WRIGHT.

A Kingston boy, passed through the Kingston Public and High Schools, and entered the year '06 Arts. Two years in Arts were enough for George, so he settled down to work and joined the "Civils" of '07 Science.

SHIRLEY KING.

Born and bred on the prairies of Manitoba. Educated at the Souris Public School. Taught school for three years. Came to Queen's in November, 1903, and registered in Geology and Mineralogy. Basket-ball was his game; for two years he played on the University team, being captain in the year '05-'06. Jolly and light-hearted, we will long remember the irrepressible "Congo."

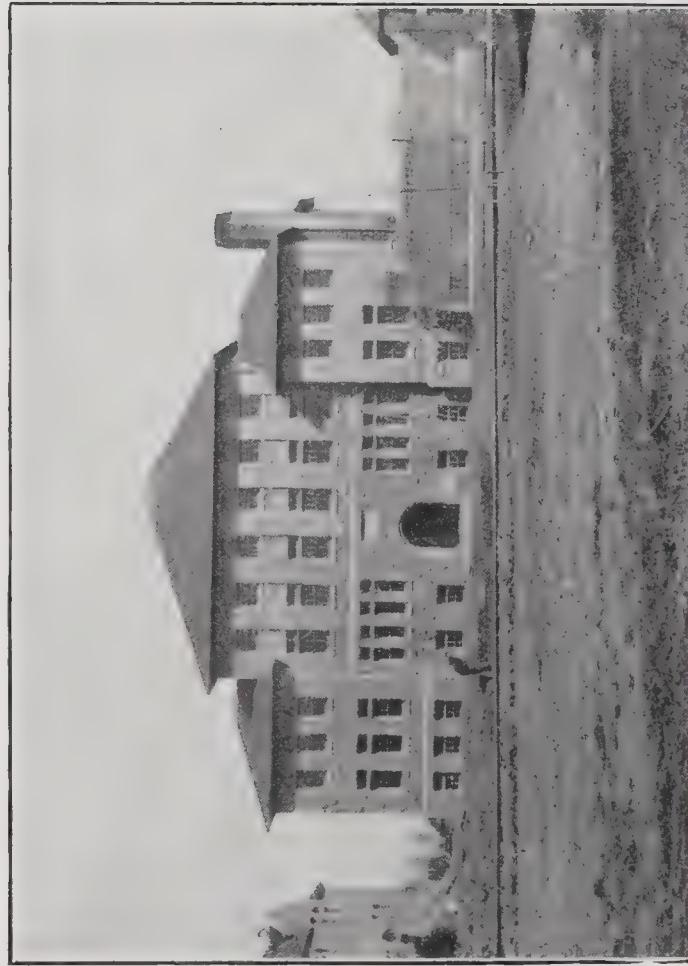

H. H. MacKENZIE

Claims Moulinette as his home. Matriculated from Cornwall High School. Registered at Queen's, in Electrical, in October, 1902. After spending a year out of college, on the topographical survey, Ottawa, he returned and joined that glorious company, the "Hoodlums." In athletics "Hank" made a name for himself as quarter-back on the Junior Championship Rugby Team, '06-'07, and in hockey played cover point on the Intermediate team.

"O he's little, but he's wise;
He's a terror for his size,
And he does not advertise,
Does yer, 'Hank'?"

ONTARIO HALL

ENGINEERING BUILDING

The True Physician

HE stands, the type of man whom men admire,
The true physician, whose daily acts inspire
The human heart with gratitude and love.
No sordid calling his; it stands above
The avaricious strife of busy marts.
The truest pay is found in grateful hearts.
He brings the tender babe into the light;
The path of feeble age he renders bright;
The parents' anxious hearts with joy beat wild
As Death's reluctant hand gives up their child;
The millionaire he oft restores to health—
More precious far than all his hoarded wealth.
The workman who from toil has failed at length
With skilful treatment he recalls to strength.
All classes and all casts he treats the same—

The very poor and those of greatest fame.
From life's beginning to its very end
To all mankind he is their truest friend.
His sleep is broken, his recreation small;
At any time he answer's duty's call.
The winter's cold, the summer's torrid heat,
Nor rain, nor snow, nor storm, nor sleet
Deter him from the dying sick one's bed,
Whence most, perchance, in deathly fear have fled
Contagion's awful atmosphere and touch,
Nor hesitates to do and dare so much.
Oh, fellow-students of this Senior year,
About to enter a so high career,
May high ideal always fill our mind—
Our solemn duties to all mankind.

ESCALAPIAN SOCIETY EXECUTIVE, 1906-07

H. Mohan, Com. '10	G. A. Greaves, Com. '07	H. Milburn,	C. J. Burns, Ass't-Secy.	T. N. Marcellus, Com. '09
B. Asselstine, Secretary	J. P. McNamara, President	Dr. G. W. Mylks, Hon. President	W. Morrison, Vice President	N. J. McKinley, Treasurer

MEDICAL CONCURSUS INIQUITATIS ET VIRTUTIS, 1906-07

B. C. Reynolds, R. A. Scott, C. J. McPherson, A. B. Wickware, R. M. Ferguson, J. M. Dunn, G. H. V. Hunter, J. J. McCann, C. S. Dunham, G. L. Campbell,
Gr. Jury Gr. Jury Constable Constable Constable Gr. Jury Gr. Jury Constable Gr. Jury Gr. Jury
F. J. Keely, J. P. I. Clancy, J. E. Brunet, A. C. Johnston, A. E. H. Bennett, J. P. Quigley, M.A., R. M. Mills, R. Wightman, V. Daly, L. L. Buck, G. A. Graves, Detective Gr. Jury Crier Gr. Jury Sr. Judge Chief Justice Jr. Judge Sr. Pros. Attorney Sheriff Chief of Police Chaplain
A. J. Spankie, H. M. Bowen, W. D. Kennedy, S. V. Carmichael, B. Asselstine, A. M. McCormick, Reporter Med. Expert Jr. Pros. Attorney Clerk Prisoner Med. Expert

DR. A. C. E. HOVEY.

DR. GEORGE DYER.

DR. ETHERINGTON.

DR. W. T. CONNELL.

HON. PRESIDENTS '07 MED.

'07 Medicine

AS Freshmen, '07 did not differ much from any similar group of students. The year was small, numbering about forty, but there was a determined air about many of the men which is only gained with age and wedlock. For the first day or so the Freshmen could be easily located by their lost, strayed or stolen appearance, but after forty-eight hours in the culture media of the College halls they began to agglutinate in groups of three and four. This process continued resulted in a year meeting at which J. P. Quigley was elected President and H. Sullivan, Secretary. A committee was also appointed to compose a "yell." That "Yell" Committee failed in its purpose, as has each succeeding committee of the same character. The other years were continually ridiculing '07 for its negligence in this respect, and finally '07 as venerable Seniors, made a last attempt by appointing Messrs. McNamara, Quigley, Greaves and Storey a committee to compose a yell. These men, while giving prospects of being brilliant in their chosen profession, have evidently failed to cultivate their literary talents, since at the next year meeting they reported their inability to compose a satisfactory "yell." Here the matter rested, with the result that '07 leaves College without having ever sent its challenge through the halls and across the campus.

The First and Second years of the course were marked by little of importance. In the First year there was that memorable A. M. S. election contest, in which Science and Medicine contested the presidency against Arts. Then party spirit ran high, and established itself in frequent contests in the College halls. More than once in that campaign the word "Scrap" echoed through the halls and over the campus. Science and Medicine remained true to their colors, and carried the day; '07, as Freshmen, did their part, and voted as their venerable Seniors dictated.

As Sophomores, '07 began to show their influence in the halls and as lords of the dissecting-room. In those days smoking was permissible in the dissecting-room; the only difficulty was to get the tobacco. How times have changed since then, when a man knew his Anatomy if he knew the femur had a shaft and two extremities, but now he is expected to know the six articular surfaces on the os magnum, the spaces of Fontana, and the fenestra rotunda.

There is a tale of the Sophomore year which only a spectator can tell. It will not be related here, but if the reader wishes to know the circumstances, he has only to ask an '07 man if he ever saw the skull and crossbones painted with white paint on a black background.

The opening of the Third year found all members of '07 in their places and ready to assume the responsibilities of Juniors. The officers for the ensuing year were L. Yule, President, and H. M. Bowen, Secretary. The Junior representatives in the Æsculapian Society for this year were: F. J. Donevan, Vice-President; J. P. McNamara, Treasurer, and B. Asselstine, Committeeman, while in the Concursus Virtutis et Iniquitatis there were: J. P. Quigley, Clerk; G. A. Greaves, Junior Prosecuting Attorney, and Messrs. Yule, Nicholls, Sullivan and Spankie. Members of the Grand Jury.

In the Aesculapian Society, '07 was ready to take a stand, and forced that society to depart from old methods on several different points. It was in this year that the nominee for President of A. M. S. was first chosen from the Junior year. Then again, '07 fought stubbornly against the choice of delegates to functions in sister universities being limited to the Senior year. They gained their point, and now such delegates may be chosen from either Third or Fourth years. The Medical dance was the only renunciation which the Juniors allowed themselves in the winter session, and the success of this function was largely due to the efforts of Messrs. Nicholls, Galloway, Mills, Greaves and Porter, the committee in charge. After this, '07 was in earnest, and until the last exam. was over there was nothing but work, and as a result disappointments were few when the results were published.

As Seniors, '07 were again ready to assume responsibility, and with little delay a year meeting was called, and F. J. Donevan and S. B. Casselman were elected as the officers for the ensuing year. Then followed the Aesculapian Society and Concursus Virtutis et Iniquitatis elections. For the former J. P. McNamara was elected President, and B. Asselstine for the latter; A. E. H. Bennett, J. P. Quigley and R. Miller, Judges; R. Wightman, Senior Prosecuting Attorney.

The chief work of '07 in the Aesculapian Society was the remodelling of the Medical banquet, and the success of this function was largely due to the Dinner Committee, with C. Laidlaw as convener. The result of their efforts was that the banquet was attended by several prominent Canadians, whose after-dinner speeches were the chief feature of the evening. The banquet was held for the first time in Grant Hall, and proved a much greater success than on previous occasions. Apart from this, '07 instituted many changes in the rules and regulations of the society, and placed the same on a firm financial basis.

January found the members of '07 preparing by hard work to assume the responsibilities of the medical profession, and now, as the session is drawing to a close, there is a restless anxiety as to what the result of four years' hard work will be. Soon the bonds will be broken, and the members of '07 will be scattered, but the good-fellowship and kindly feeling which existed throughout the course will never be forgotten, and will only act as a tie which helps all Queen's graduates to remain true to their Aima Mater.

LANGUOR, LASSITUDE, MALLESE, AND THAT CACHECTIC LOOK.

BERT ASSELSTINE.

Wilton, Ont., claims his nativity, but he lived in Newburgh to attend High School. While here he has served in athletic management, and in the Esculapian Society, in the latter of which he now holds the Secretaryship. If there is anyone who does not like Bert it is not Bert's fault. He never aims to displease anyone.

A. E. H. BENNETT.

Peterboro' Collegiate Institute gave him his early tuition, and then for a few years teaching engaged his attention. In 1900 he entered Queen's, and studied for two sessions, after which he spent a couple of years in Kamloops, B.C., and other parts of the West. In '05 he again came to the college, and is now in his final year.

J. H. DUCHESNE.

Our only French student comes from Ste. Anne de Prescott with a Laval Arts degree. Though handicapped by a somewhat imperfect knowledge of English at first, he has moulded the conditions by a force his own, and though others in like fate have gone under, he beats honorably to shore to which we all aspire—success.

GEO. A. GREAVES.

He is of Kingston, and entered Medicine after a short course in Arts in which he has not yet graduated. In Medicine he has won considerable prominence, is popular with his fellows, and has successfully filled a number of offices during his course.

H. M. BOWEN

Is one of the men it is somewhat difficult to focus on the reporting camera, perhaps since one always finds him moving. It is with difficulty, too, that one finally elicits his confession of possessing name at all, but that goes largely to show the type he represents. What he wins will not be by "bluff" or crowding, but by worth.

H. A. BOYCE.

"Taste the joy that springs from labor."

From the beginning he has been one of the leading men. By hard work and push he won to the hearts and heads of his professors, to the end of winning General Proficiency and Best Dissection prizes in his Second Year, and a special in Surgical Anatomy later. From having attended Ottawa Normal School, and taught for five years he has developed a facility for imparting his knowledge to such advantage as will make him a rival to all in final year prize contests.

SIMON B. CASSELMAN.

From home at North Williamsburg he attended Morrisburg Collegiate Institute, after which he engaged in school teaching for five years. At college he has done himself exceptional credit, considering the short terms he has attended, and is known generally as one of the few who can learn most with least effort.

F. A. CAYS.

Standing outside you might on very superficial view consider him as less extensive than he really is, but once within you see that evading frontage and an elaborate sign-board, there is greater depth than street surface, and you find a stock of the useful, the needful, the attractive and the up-to-date.

F. J. DONOVAN

Hails from Gananoque with a football and hockey history which he has elaborated since his advent to Queen's. For six years he has ably upheld the honor of the college on the football battle ground, serving five years on the first team and in '04 winning a medal for his prowess. '05-'06 gave him the Vice-Presidency of the Aesculapian Society, and he is now President of his own year.

J. E. B. GALLOWAY.

Apart from class work he has been associated with musical committees and Glee Club work, and has held the offices of Secretary-Treasurer and President of the latter. In class he has done well, and his tenor standing with the boys places him on the right side of all.

A. C. JOHNSTON.

If, when you ask him something about his history, he says he has none, you feel it is not his fault but the historian's, and when he finally gives you an account of his work and ambitions, and hopes his present standing in medical education and proficiency is only the A B C D of his medical progress, you know instinctively that it is.

S. G. KEAN

First found the exhilarating influence of free independent breathing in the clear, cool atmosphere of Brookfield, Nfld. He matriculated at St. John's, but finding his aspirations reaching beyond the common school education he began his medical work at McGill. After three successful years there he comes to Queen's to graduate, a credit to himself and friends.

F. J. KEELEY.

"Tis good-will makes intelligence."

One faculty has not preyed on another in his economy. Social and mental education have both claimed his consideration to the end of producing a rather pleasing result. In work his head is level and he is emphatically a good fellow. If success is a function of merit his final standing ought to be on the top rung.

H. B. LONGMORE.

*"To th' expanded and expiring soul,
To be but still the thing it long has been
Is misery—*

Bruce Longmore graduated here in Arts in '98, and then taught mathematics in Alexandria High School until he joined the '07 Class in Medicine. Since then he has won some distinction in general work and grasped the Faculty prize in Materia Medica, '06. His inquiring disposition will never permit him to idle where aught can be had for the asking.

ALBERT M. McCORMICK.

*"His life was gentle, and the elements
So mixed in him, that Nature might stand up,
And say to all the world, 'this was a man.'"*

Quiet and undemonstrative, and lacking perhaps the "nerve" that elevates some men to eminences, he nevertheless easily fills his niche in life, and modestly forms his part of composite humanity.

L. McCAMBRIDGE

Is a stirring man, and from the depths he ladles out "chunks" of humor and smiles. That no one often catches him at work is merely because he is rarely caught anywhere, but he seems, nevertheless, to have gained somewhat of the reputation of "the man who knows."

CAMPBELL LAIDLAW

From Hamilton Collegiate Institute he came to Queen's, 1898, and graduated in Arts after three years. He has been most creditably associated with athletic committees and football work as manager. He held the Secretaryship of the A.M.S. 1900, served on the Debate Committee for three years, and has done good work on musical and banquet committees, with master work in the latter on the Medical Banquet Committee this year. As a man of proficiency in all branches of work he is at least one of the strongest men of the year.

A. McDERMOTT.

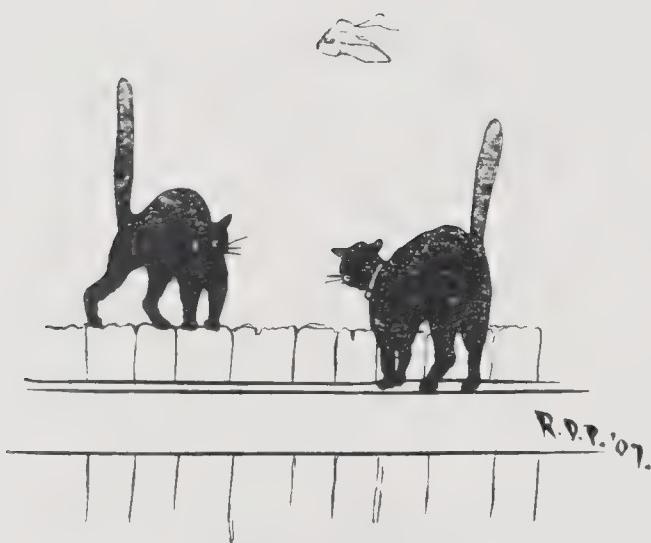

Before becoming associated with medical work at Queen's he took some active interest in football and other athletics in the city, but his studies since have prevented his taking a prominent part in college athletics. He is one of the year's men with latent "Sandow" possibilities, but he has made it a point throughout his course to work first and play after.

J. P. McNAMARA.

Good old Mac! Silent, sapient, comfortable old Mac! He has been the father of his year, the leader of the hosts of Æsculapius, the nestor, the tried counsellor and true, the straightener of crooked Sophomores and Juniors. Like Eliphaz the Temanite, Mac says, or seems to say, "Should a wise man utter vain knowledge and fill his belly with the East wind?" But we are all sure that wherever he goes, north, south, east or west, old Mac will keep his mouth closed and do his Alma Mater proud. God bless old Mac!

J. P. QUIGLEY.

A native of Kingston, he does honor and credit both to his city and himself. To the present he has led his year in class work, and as shown in the last Æsculapian elections, is the most popular man in college. In '05 the New York Alumni Scholarship, and in '06 the Dean Fowler Scholarship fell to his work. In office he served as committee-man of the Æsculapian Society, '03-'04, Queen's Journal Editor, '04-'05, Clerk of Concursus, '05-'06, and Chief Justice, '06-'07. Extra to his class work he tutored in Latin, '04-'05, and in Greek for the two following sessions. Previous to his medical course he took his M.A. degree, '03, with the Gold Medal in Greek.

NOT (A) CHORD.

DIAPEDESIS:—PASSING OF PLASTIC EXUDATE THROUGH THE WALLS OF THE VESSEL.

MEDICAL YELL:

Oil! Wine! Whiskey! Rum!
More ale, more ale, more ale!
We're no bums!
Wah! wah! wah!

Si. Casselman has settled in business and met with a howling success

A. McDONALD

Came to Queen's with the fixed intention of working his way to attainment. His course has not been marked by sprints, but like that of the well regulated mechanism has been noiseless, unostentatious and effective.

WILFRED L. McDougald

Graduated from Cornwall Collegiate Institute. He then entered McGill where he took one year of Arts, and in '02 entered the Medical Department of the same institution. While there he took a prominent part in University matters. In October, '06, he entered Queen's, and hopes to graduate in the spring.

RICHARD M. MILLS.

From his Kingston home he entered Queen's, 1898, and began Medicine after four years in Arts. Better known as "Dick," he has taken a very prominent part in athletics, playing on the championship intermediate football team in his early years, and for six years has been known as the cleverest goal tender in the Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League. He has been Manager of the team, and Secretary of the Intercollegiate Hockey Union for two years. Outside, Mr. Mills is known for his literary abilities.

R. F. NICHOLLS.

"On the contrary, greater pleasure is often in the telling of a joke than in hearing it."

Of the communicative type he centres an interesting group. He makes you smile, and the smile lightens life. In the world of heavy lives in which he is working he ought to prove of no little value.

ROBERT DORLAND PAUL

Was born in Selby some time ago, but does not seem to mind it. In track work he has carried off six prizes—four first honors and two seconds—at the various track events held since his arrival. He won also two other races, for which medals were not awarded, and three running events in as many visits to the Royal Military College. In exams. he has held a fairly high standing, and took the Clinical Microscopy prize, 1906. He was Medical Editor for the Yearbook.

W. C. PORTER.

His medical course has been somewhat zigzag and intermittent, for besides Medicine he has enlarged his sphere of intellectual and experimental education along many and varied paths. He can guide you to the picturesque or golden pinnacles of Canada's mountain greatness; can conduct an express train or steer a liner with the same facility with which he can direct and manipulate the surgeon's knife.

PATRICK J. QUINN

Received his preliminary education at Oswego High School, N.Y.S., and graduated 1901. The same year he entered Cornell University, where he spent three years in the Medical Faculty. He entered his final year in Medicine at Queen's University in October, 1906. Of the kind to unselfishly leave the front seats and honors to his fellows, yet his aptitude for clinical work and reports and for generally making his knowledge practical has been noted and appreciated by his Professors and classmates.

H. D. L. SPENCE.

His home is in Kingston, where at the Collegiate Institute he gained some of his preliminary education. In '04 he graduated in Arts at Queen's. For a couple of years he has served on the Athletic Committee; was assistant Secretary at the time of contraction for the new college gymnasium, and has most creditably filled a number of other offices. He is a very effective critic, and few can be said to possess a more lively interest in matters affecting the interests or honor of the college.

R. A. SCOTT.

A. T. SPANKIE

Sailed in from his Wolfe Island home with senses alert, and a will to do. During the course, thanks to persistent push and active adaptability, the prizes for Junior Surgery and for best dissection have fallen to his head and handiness. Asking a question, he believes, is easier than reading and more effective. By results, we think he is about right.

F. H. TROUSDALE

His first horizon encircled the village of Hartington, but in the process of extension, Sydenham High School soon became included, where at the age of seventeen he passed his Junior Leaving and Matriculation. After five years of teaching he undertook a medical course, during which he has thus far won the Faculty prize for general proficiency in his Second Year, and the McCabe prize for pathology in Third Year work. Y.M.C.A. has claimed some of his interest, and he has held consecutively the Secretaryship and Vice Presidency and Presidency.

R. WIGHTMAN.

*Bob Wightman to Queen's, don't you see,
Came up from Glengarry to be
A right jolly Med., of the gay company,
But now with his books you may see him, by gee*

He is a Scotchman of the good old school. He talks little, thinks much, but does his work well. In debate, as Senior Prosecuting Attorney of the Concursus, he proved himself equalled by few and excelled by none. May success ever attend upon him.

GILBERT E. STORY.

"Environment shapes us as a rock splits a tide, but there is infinite variety in the currents."

Though with a nominal home at Almonte, the world of late has been his real one, and has endowed him with an experience and generosity of thought and action that endears him to all who know him best. In his varied life experiences his head and hands have worked co-ordinately to the nourishing of his best and most useful attributes.

H. SULLIVAN.

*"For when a lady's in the case,
You know all other things give place."*

Peterboro' affords us this man though Ottawa College held him during some of his growing hours before entering Queen's. He is of somewhat reticent nature, but is plainly one of the boys. If he has a failing it is a "fair" one, and everyone forgives him.

A. Y. THOMPSON.

From Strathroy he entered Medicine after a pure Arts course in which he graduated, '03. On the football field he has proved himself one of the indispensables, and played in champion teams during the years '02, '03 and '04 of his University career. He was Junior Judge of the Medical Concursus '06, and delegate to Toronto "At Home."

C. A. THREADGALE.

From Bedford, Warwickshire, Eng., he gained his early education in the Royal Grammar School at Clitheroe. He registered as a medical student in the general Medical Council, '87, attended Cook's School of Anatomy, London; Victoria University, Manchester; Bishop's College, Montreal, and gained a recommendation for honors in Biology, Materia Medica and Therapeutics. He has acted as Clinical Clerk in Manchester Royal Infirmary, and was Principal of Dublin School medical course at Queen's.

M. J. O. WALKER.

Or good old "Hiram," as the boys know him, is another of the Kingstonians who has taken the advantage of an education at Queen's. He entered Medicine in '03, after a successful preliminary training at Athens. In his Second Year he carried off the prize in Anatomy. He is not loquacious, and when he has anything to say he generally does not say it. Among the Meds he has earned for himself a niche of popularity and good fellowship, which no one else can fill.

So 'ere's to Hiram Walker with his Pipe and Old Tobac, What's killed far more bacilli than Jimmy's cotton shack.
As 'e sits and talks so quiet, you'd think 'im mighty slow,
But 'e's got the 'eart that's big and full, and the 'and to do it—"so"

MEDICAL BUILDING.

Medical Snapshot Diagnoses

L. McC—MBR—DG:

"This fellow picks up wit as pigeons peas,
And utters it again when Jove doth please."

J. P. Q—GL—Y:

"Taking down lectures I greatly enjoy,
And I'm working like 'll for a prize."

HAR—LD SP—NCE:

"I awoke one morning to find myself famous."

W. L. McD—UG—LD:

And how his audit stands, who knows, save heaven Or—?

F. G. D—N—V—N:

"Vicious, ungentle, foolish, blunt, unkind; Stigmatical in making, worse in mind."

C. A. THR—DG—LE:

"Be wise with speed;
A fool at forty is a fool indeed."

C. L—DL—W:

"A wise man!"
"O most lame and impotent conclusion."

G. A. GR—VES:

"At home they kept me sleek and fat,
And stroked me like a pussy cat:
I never had to stay up late,
Or carry any dreadful weight."

D—CK M—LLS:

"Alas, poor chin! many a wart is richer."

S—M KE—N:

"Though I am not splenetic and rash,
Yet have I something in me dangerous."

ANG—S McD—N—LD:

"He was perfumed like a milliner;
And twixt his finger and his thumb he held
A pouncet-box, which ever and anon
He gave his nose."

ANDY TH—MPS—N:

"To die! To sleep;
To sleep! perchance, to dream;—ay, there's the best part of it."

M. J. O. W—LK—R:

"I do defy him, and I spit at him;
Call him a slanderous coward and a villain."

J. F. McD—RM—TT:

"The devil hath power
To assume a pleasing shape."

FR—D C—YS:

"I am his Highness' dog at Kew;
Pray tell me, Sir, whose dog are you?"

ALB—RT McC—RM—CK:

Either thou art most ignorant by age,
Or thou wert born a fool.

BR—CE G—LLW—Y:

"The tenor's voice is spoilt by affectation,
And for the bass, the beast can only bellow;
In fact he has no singing education,
An ignorant, noteless, timeless, tuneless fellow."

FR—D N—CH—LS:

"I have neither wit, nor words, nor worth,
Action, nor utterance, nor the power of speech
To stir men's blood; I only speak right on."

D—RL—ND P—L:

"A shallow brain behind a serious mask,
An oracle within an empty cask."

Br—CE L—NGM—RE:

"Oh, he's as tedious
As a tir'd horse, a rathing wife;
Worse than a smoky house;—I had rather live
With cheese and garlic in a windmill, far."

A. E. H. B—NN—TT:

"I pray thee, cease thy counsel,
Which falls into my ears as profitless
As water in a sieve."

J. P. McN—M—RA:

"A mere court butterfly
That flutters in the pageant of a monarch."

H. M. B—W—N:

"Whoever thinks a faultless piece to see, Thinks what ne'er was, nor is, nor e'er shall be."

B—RT Ass—L—ST—NE:

"The devil damn thee black, thou cream faced loon!
Where got'st thou that goose look?"

A. C. J—HNST—N:

"He says but little, and that little said
Owes all its weight, like loaded dice, to lead;
His wit invites you by his looks to come,
But when you knock it never is at home."

G—B St—RY:

"Eternal smiles his emptiness betray
As shallow streams run dimpling all the way."

J. N. D—CH—SNE:

"The Frenchman, easy, debonair, and brisk,
Give him his lass, his fiddle, and his frisk,
Is always happy, reign whoever may,
And laughs his sense and misery far away."

H. m. S—tt—v—N:

"A malady
Preys on my heart that medicine cannot reach."

B—n Sc—TT:

"He is paved with good intentions, —hump!"

S—m—N Cass—LM—N:

"I am full of old saws and modern instances."

H. A. B—YCE:

"I have no spur
To prick the sides of my intent, but only
Vaulting ambition, which overleaps itself
And falls on the other."

W—H—D—L—T—R:

"Who shall go about
To cozen fortune and be honorable
Without the stamp of merit."

E. J. K—TY:

"Oh, serpent heart, hid with a flow'ring face,
Did ever dragon keep so fair a cave?"

P. J. QU—NN:

"He was the mildest mannered man
That ever scuttled ship, or cut a throat."

A. T. Sp—NK—F:

"A lazy, lolling sort,
Unseen at church, at senate, or at court,
Of ever listless loiterers, that attend
No cause, no trust, no duty, and no friend."

R. W—GHTM—N:

"A stony adversary, an inhuman wretch,
Incapable of pity, void and empty
From any dream of mercy."

W. C. P—RT—R:

"My salad days
When I was green in judgment."

ARTS AND SCIENCE Y. M. C. A. EXECUTIVE

W. D. McIntosh, Religious Work.	R. J. McDonald, Bible Study.	A. Beecroft, Musical.	J. M. Shaver, Membership.	J. L. Nichol, Programme.	L. K. Sully, Hand Book.	D. A. Ferguson, Librarian.
D. J. Lane, Cor. Sec'y.	M. Matheson, Vice-Pres.	P. G. McPherson, President.	A. Cummings, Treas.	J. A. Shaver, Rec. Sec'y.

Q. U. M. A.

QUEEN'S Missionary Association was founded during the session of 1848-49, when George Ferguson (present Professor Ferguson), John Hugh Mackerras (late Professor Mackerras), T. G. Smith (afterwards Dr. Smith, minister of St. Andrew's, Gordon, and Kenneth MacLennan agreed to collect money from their friends during the summer and to do what they could to promote mission work. There was no regular organization, the only officer being the Secretary-Treasurer, Kenneth MacLennan.

The aim of this group of men was to maintain one man in the mission field and to supply missions around the College. From this small beginning the oldest society in connection with the University has grown to its present considerable proportions.

Although the Q. U. M. A. has given most of its attention to home missions, yet it has always had an active interest in foreign work, contributing both men and money. Of late years, however, it has devoted itself almost entirely to the work in Western Canada and New Ontario. During the past year eight fields were occupied—Howe Sound, British Columbia; Disley and Stony Beach, Saskatchewan; Aitkin, Alberta; Tomistown, Orrville and Bonfield, Ontario.

The expense of maintaining the men in the fields amounted last summer to $1,400, and must be contributed by the students and by Young People's Societies and friends outside the University.

We believe that the men sent out by this society are playing no small part in moulding the life of the Canadian West, and would commend the Missionary Society to the members of '07 as one worthy of their support.

Y. M. C. A.

EARLY in the fall term of 1870 Mr. D. L. Wishard, International Secretary of the Students' Y. M. C. A., addressed a body of students at the college with a view to organizing a branch society. The matter was taken up with enthusiasm by the men, and on November 15th a society was formed with the following officers: President, D. McTavish; Vice-President, Chas. R. Dickson; Recording Secretary, John Young; Corresponding Secretary, Arch. McLaren; Treasurer, Robert G. Feek. After the business part of the meeting the first address was given by Rev. David Mitchell, of Toronto. Principal Grant then gave a short address, and the Y. M. C. A. was started.

Ever since its organization in 1870 the Y. M. C. A. has held an important place in College life. Meetings are held weekly, at which papers on various subjects of interest to students are given and discussed. All mission work, except a little in the city, is left in the hands of the Q. U. M. A., the President of which society is a member of the Y. M. C. A. Executive; but the association is doing considerable work among the students. A special effort is being made to promote Bible study by means of group classes. At present there are twelve groups of six to eight men each among the four faculties. Professor Maenaughton's fifth class, which meets every Sunday morning, is the centre and stimulus of this work.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION

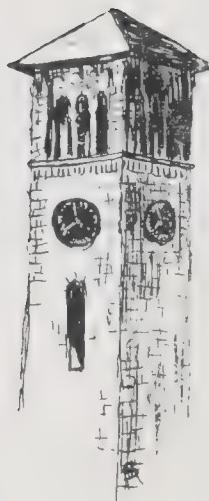

W. D. McIntosh,	R. M. McTavish,	W. Stott,	G. A. Brown, B.A.,	R. M. Stevenson, B.A.,	W. H. McInnes, B.A.,	E. Hanna,
H. M. Com.	Librarian.	Cor. Sec.	Critic.	F. M. Com.	Reporter.	Mem. Com.
L. K. Sully, B.A.,	D. A. Ferguson,	W. J. Watt, B.A.,		R. C. Jackson,	J. McDonald, B.A.,
Fin. Sec.	Rec. Sec.	President.		Vice-President.	Treasurer.

Y. W. C. A. EXECUTIVE

Miss MacInnes, Bible Study Com.	Miss Greene, Silver Bay Com.	Miss Millar, Religious Work Com.	Miss MacArthur, Missionary Com.
Miss Hall, Secretary.	Miss Macfarlane, President.	Mrs. Matheson, Honorary President.	Miss Cram, Vice-President.
Miss Ross, Rents Com.	Miss Mackay, Leekent Com.	Miss Hiscock, Musica' Com.	Miss Mackintosh, Programme Com.

Queen's Y. W. C. A.

ABOUT twenty-five years ago the late Dr. Mowat organized a Bible Reading Club among the women students of the University. They met regularly every Sabbath morning at nine o'clock in the old Arts Building, and when Dr. Mowat found it impossible to be there his place was taken by the late Dr. Bell.

In November, 1889, seven years after the organization of the Bible Reading Club, they reconstituted themselves into a Young Women's Christian Association, the President being Miss Margaret McKellar. The other officers were: Vice-President, Miss Connell; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Turnbull; Recording Secretary, Miss Baker, and Treasurer, Miss Anglin.

On the Committee for Bible Studies were Miss O'Hara and Miss Murray, with Miss McCallum and Miss Wilson on the Missionary Committee.

It is interesting to note that of this first Executive Committee three have since labored as medical missionaries in Central India.

Ever since its organization the association has filled a very important place in the lives of the College women, its aim being to promote the spiritual welfare of its members, and as far as possible to further the interests of all Christian work.

The regular devotional meeting is held on Friday afternoon at four o'clock, and subjects bearing upon Christian life and work are fully discussed. Immediately following this service, the class for Bible study, conducted by Principal Gordon, meets for three-quarters of an hour. For the session, 1906-07, the course of study has been the Gospel according to John.

The association strives to take an active interest also in the social life of the University, and so early in the fall term entertains the new girls at what is well known as the Freshettes' Reception. Then follows the Freshmen's Reception, given by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. of the College.

GYMNASIUM EXTERIOR

Gymnasium

At last! After over twenty-five years of discussion and agitation Queen's has a Gymnasium. Like most good things, it took a long time in coming, but when it did come it was something to be proud of. Of course, during all these years we did occasionally have a gym. of some sort or other, but it never had a permanent abode, and at last succumbed to the want of space caused by the increasing number of Science students, while the other needs of the University absorbed all the funds available, thus preventing the erection of a new building. But in the spring of 1905 the Athletic Committee felt that the need of a gymnasium was too great to be put off any longer, and with the consent of the Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees and the Alma Mater Society, a canvass of the students took place, meeting with such a spontaneous and generous result that the committee at once proceeded to the erection of the Gymnasium. On April 25th, the Chancellor, Sir Sandford Fleming, turned the first sod with appropriate ceremonies. Building operations were at once commenced, under the supervision of Professors A. K. Kirkpatrick and A. McPhail, and pushed forward with all possible speed. The result is the splendid building of which we are all so justly proud.

The Gymnasium is a typical Queen's building—plain, solid and most suitable for the end for which it was constructed. It is one hundred and five feet in length, and sixty feet deep. The walls are exceptionally strong, and the stonework is probably the best on the grounds. The floor of the Gym. is 56x86 feet from wall to wall, and made of the best hardwood, and is marked out for basketball and tennis.

In another year the running track will be completed, and will be twenty laps to the mile. In the basement are situated the dressing-rooms, with room for about six hundred lockers, the shower baths and swimming pool. A competent instructor has been secured who, besides conducting the regular gymnastic classes, gives instruction in boxing and fencing, and also directs the training of our track men. Nor do we miss the familiar figure of "Alfie," who has from time immemorial watched the various steps in Queen's athletic progress, and who looks upon the gym. as symbolic of some new championship. He has been installed as janitor. The formal opening of the Gymnasium was held on Saturday evening, January 12, 1907. The regular Alma Mater Society meeting was held in the building, and the prizes won at Queen's Track Sports were presented, but the chief feature of the programme was an address by Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, Professor of Physical Education at the University of Pennsylvania, upon the "Development of Physical Efficiency Among College Men," which will long be remembered by the hearers. Under such favorable auspices did the students enter into formal possession of the new Gymnasium.

QUEEN'S SENIOR RUGBY TEAM, '06-'07

D. R. Cameron, Manager.	Dr. G. W. Mylks, Hon. President.	J. Houston, Wing.	L. L. Buckley, Wing.	L. H. Fraser, Back.
H. Macdonnell, 1st Half.	A. B. Turner, 1st Wing.	F. Brewster, Quarter.	J. L. Madden, Back.	Ken. F. Williams, Centre Half.
D. J. Fraser, 2nd Wing.	V. W. Crawford, Full Back.	T. Figg, Quarter.	W. D. Kennedy, Captain.	G. F. Campbell, Left Half.
Alfie* Pierce, Trainer.	W. Beggs, 3rd Wing.	W. Hale, Serim.	F. J. Donovan, C. Scrim.	H. Gibson, Scrim.	R. Irwin, 3rd Wing.	G. Baker, 2nd Wing.	W. E. Cook, 1st Wing.

QUEEN'S ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL TEAM AND EXECUTIVE

Forwards: F. E. Fear. D. E. Foster. D. C. Ramsay, Capt. H. Fleming. A. Hope, Sec. Treas.

K. S. Clarke, Back. L. L. Buck, President. Prof. Matheson. J. B. Saint, Half Back.

Prof. Campbell, Hon. President.

T. N. Marcellus, Med. Com. J. E. Carmichael, Back. H. E. Chatham, Half Back. D. Fleming, Goal. E. L. Bruce, Sc. Com.

Rugby Football

THE Rugby season of 1906 was one of many surprises. From the very first Queen's prospects looked rather dark. Over half of last season's Senior team had left, and new men had to be found to fill their places, and, moreover, no coach had been secured. So it was not surprising, although rather disappointing, that our first team met with four straight defeats. Two of these games, however, were awarded to Queen's on account of their opponents playing unqualified men. After this things looked more cheerful, and the boys in the bleachers had a chance to yell themselves hoarse when they saw Ottawa College vanquished to the tune of 31 to 0. But the enthusiasm aroused that day was, if possible, exceeded when, after one of the most strenuous and exciting games in the annals of inter-collegiate football, Queen's defeated 'Varsity, the Senior Intercollegiate champions of 1905.

and also holders of the Canadian Championship by 11 to 9, on the Varsity Oval. Our men had now got used to one another, and were playing great football, but it was all too late, for their poor start had so handicapped them that McGill won the championship, with Queen's as runners up. The third team, however, fully maintained the reputation of the College by winning the Junior Inter-collegiate championship. Our third teams had formerly played in the Junior O. R. F. U., but when the Junior series of I. C. R. F. U. was formed they at once entered it, and lost their first game to R. M. C. H. But in the return game they easily won by a large margin, and, meeting with winners of the Western section, 'Varsity III., defeated them both on the Athletic Ground and in Toronto. There were no games this season for the Lavell Inter-faculty Cup, so it remained with the Arts men, who won it the year before.

Association Football

THIS year the Association Football Team was stronger than for some time past, and fully upheld the honor of Queen's. Mr. Carmichael, who had been elected Captain in the spring, had to resign his post on account of absence from College, but D. C. Ramsay, our stalwart leader of the former season, was able to fill the vacancy, and soon collected a strong aggregation. Although there is no regular Association Football League, home-and-home games were played with McGill, and our team won both of these, while the city team of Kingston proved an easy proposition. The only defeat of the season was received in Toronto, from 'Varsity, with whom no return match was played. The Association players are looking forward to the formation of an Intercollegiate League like the Rugby Football Union.

Track Club

ALTHOUGH well represented in all other branches of athletics, it was in track sports that the Class of '07 covered itself with glory, and its final appearance in the arena was the most successful of all. For three years they had held the Inter-year Trophy, and had supplied the individual champion, Mr. J. R. Akins, in their Junior year, and they were as fully determined to retain their honors as the other years were to wrest them away. But the close of one of the most successful contests ever held by the Track Club saw '07 again triumphant, and "Jim" Akins a second time individual champion. Never before has the Inter-year Trophy been held by the same year for four successive seasons, and it will doubtless be long before this performance is equalled. Two records were broken, that in the high jump, by J. R. Akins, '07, and that in the pole vault, by D. E. Foster, '08. Mr. R. D. Paul, '07, came within one second of lowering the half mile record, and if the track had been good, would have done so. At the R. M. C. sports four events—the mile, half mile,

J. R. AKINS.

high jump and 220 yards dash—were open to Queen's, and in each our representatives won first and second place. The Inter-collegiate Track Meet was held this year at Toronto, and this was the second time that Queen's had entered a team. The showing made was a decided improvement over that of the former year, and Mr. H. N. McKinnon, '10 Arts, was responsible for breaking two Intercollegiate records—in putting the shot and throwing the hammer. The other records in which Queen's men won points were the mile race, pole vault, high jump and 100 yards dash. The acquisition of a gymnasium and competent trainer will be a great help in preparing our athletes in future for the competitions, and it will not be long before Queen's takes as prominent a place in track athletics as in all other branches of college sport.

FOSTER BREAKING RECORD.

TRACK CLUB EXECUTIVE AND TEAM

D. E. Foster. N. S. Macdonnell. R. D. Paul. J. B. Saint.

A. Leatherland. E. Carmichael. J. G. McCammon. H. G. Bertram.

W. Orr. Dr. Richardson. Mt. Palmer. J. R. Akins. W. H. Craig.
Hon. President. Trainer. President.

F. McArthur. H. N. McKinnon.

QUEENS I. HOCKEY TEAM

Senior Champions I.C.H.U., 1905-6

W. Dobson

"Alfie."

H. W. Macdonell.

Prof. W. Nicol,
Hon. Pres.

Principal Gordon.

G. Richardson,

M. B. Baker,

ain.

President

V. W. Crawford

R. M. Mills.

M. L. Walsh.

F. Sutherland.

Athletics

HOCKEY

OUR hockey teams this winter fared very much as in foot ball. Last season we had held the Senior Intercollegiate Championship, and even had the audacity to challenge for the Stanley Cup, in which venture, although beaten, we were by no means disgraced. But four of the members of that team were absent, and their places were hard to fill. Still, Queen's defeated Peterborough in an exhibition game on their own ice, and then in Pittsburg won two straight games from Yale, the American Intercollegiate champions. This raised our hopes, but for a brief space only, until, for the first time in history, 'Varsity I defeated Queen's Seniors in Kingston. This killed all our championship aspirations, but still our team gave McGill a close run in Montreal, and then, repeating the wonder of the football season, beat 'Varsity in Toronto, in a close fought game. The final game was lost to McGill in our own rink. The championship this year went to 'Varsity, whose strong, fast, well-balanced aggregation deserves it. Our second team met with no better fortune, for they lost their first game to R.M.C. I., and were only able to tie the score in the second encounter. As in foot ball, our third team won most honors for the College, but they were not quite as successful. They won from R.M.C. II. and from Kingston Collegiate without suffering any defeat, and played a draw with 'Varsity III., but later were beaten by them in Toronto, thus losing the championship.

BASKET BALL.

THIS year basket ball made a great advance in popularity among the student body. Formerly played in the city Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, it seemed to be outside of the regular College athletics, but now, with the opening of our own gymnasium, it took its proper place among the winter sports. The floor space in the gymnasium is the largest in Canada at present used for this game, and with this advantage it is not surprising that our first team won the series of home-and-home games, played with McGill, by safe margins. The games for the Inter-year Championship were also keenly contested, the series being made more interesting by the presentation of a trophy by last year's Senior class. The Juniors and Sophomores at the end of the series were tied for first place, and had to play off. After a hard struggle, '00 were successful, and had the honor of being the first holders of the cup.

TENNIS

TENNIS this year had more than its usual number of devotees, but the wet weather, which continued all through the fall, kept the courts in very poor condition, and prevented the completion of the annual tournament. The men's singles, indeed, was the only series finished, and the winner was Mr. N. S. Macdonnell, '00. There was no Intercollegiate competition this year.

EXECUTIVE OF TENNIS CLUB, 1906-07.

Hon. President	PROF. MATHESON
President	G. A. PLATT, B.A.
Vice-President	E. J. REID
Secretary-Treasurer	E. S. MACLOCH

Miss Ferguson
Committee	H. W. MCKIEL
	W. BEGGS
	N. S. MACDONNELL

QUEEN'S BASKET-BALL TEAM
(Intercollegiate Champions)

D. B. Fleming, W. E. Lawson, J. B. Saint, Guard. Centre. Guard.

A. P. Menzies, W. H. Craig, L. K. Sully, H. Dunlop, A. E. Boak, Secretary. Guard. Forward (Capt.) Forward. Vice-President.

GRANT HALL AND TENNIS COURT

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY JOURNAL STAFF

W. R. Rogers. R. M. Stevenson, B.A. R. A. Scott, B.A. F. Keeley.
D. J. Stewart. A. H. Gibson. J. M. Macgillivray. E. Hanna. M. Clifford. D. I. McLeod. J. S. Huft. R. C. Jackson.
A. E. Boak. I. S. MacInnis. W. M. Hay, B.A., E. Spottswood. H. A. Connolly, M. A.
Editor-in-Chief.

Queen's Publications

QUEEN'S QUARTERLY.

ESTABLISHED in 1893, the Quarterly is now in its fourteenth year of existence, and has already entered upon its second stage of development. It was intended by its founders to be merely the general literary organ of Queen's University. From the first, however, the attempt to provide a vehicle for the full and fearless discussion of public questions, and the appearance, so rare in Canada, of disinterested criticism began to attract attention, especially the department of Current Events, as conducted by the late Principal Grant and Professors Shortt and Cappon. A reorganization became desirable, and the literary management was placed in the hands of an editorial staff of four, chosen from a larger advisory body, representing the principal colleges and universities of the country. Illustrations were introduced, and its pages were opened to writers on matters less purely academic in character, though in becoming popular the Quarterly has not ceased to be scholarly, as a glance at the list of its contributors will show.

MEDICAL QUARTERLY.

Queen's Medical Quarterly is owned and published by the Medical Faculty, and is sent gratuitously to every member of the profession in Eastern Ontario, to medical graduates everywhere, and to all undergraduates in the faculty. Its editorials are frequently devoted to discussing the medical legislation of the Province and of the Dominion—and generally to good purpose.

THE JOURNAL.

The Journal is the students' paper. It is edited, financed and published by the students themselves through a committee carefully representative of every student association and every faculty. It is on the average a forty-eight page paper, issued fortnightly during the College session. Its purpose and function are twofold. It supplies the students with the news, the opinions, the legitimate gossip and the fleeting sallies of wit of a constantly increasing academic community, and provides them with a vehicle of expression for any literary inspiration that may come to them from academic or social functions. Secondly, it forms a bond of union between the University and her graduates in the world. More than half of the subscribers are graduates, some of whom have taken the Journal for over thirty years.

QUEEN'S DRAMATIC CLUB

Debate

FROM the standpoint of debating interests, the session 1906-07 was marked with unusual success. All the inter-year debates were characterized by an exceptionally high standard of discussion. The first and probably most keenly contested debate was that between the Senior and Junior years, on the subject: "Resolved, that the regulation of the salaries of rural teachers, as proposed by the Ontario Government, is in the best interests of education." Messrs. D. A. McArthur and M. N. Omond, for '08, defended the affirmative, while '07 was represented by M. Matheson and W. Stott. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative. The second debate, on the most interesting subject, "Resolved, that Government legislation should restrict the accumulation of individual fortunes to one million dollars, brought the Sophomores and Freshmen together. Through Messrs. Wylie and Russell, '10 defended the affirmative, while the honor of '09 was successfully upheld by D. L. McKay and N. S. Macdonnell. The final debate was on the subject of college discipline. S. G. Fife and Allan Donnell, of '08, argued in favor of placing discipline in the hands of the students, and were opposed by G. A. King and R. O. Sweezy, of

'08. The Sophomores presented the stronger argument, and were awarded the Inter-year Trophy for 1906-07.

In the Intercollegiate arena the championship—now for the second year—rewarded the efforts of Queen's debaters. In the first of the series, held in Convocation Hall, McGill and Queen's crossed swords, discussing the question, "Resolved, that the popular magazine literature of the present day is detrimental to the general culture of the people." For Queen's the affirmative was upheld by F. Stidwell, '08, and M. N. Omond, '08, while McGill was represented by J. G. Hindley, '07, and W. H. Cherry, '07. Queen's was able to substantiate her charge against the modern popular magazine, and was awarded the decision.

In the final debate with Ottawa College the subject discussed was: "Resolved, that a general high license law is preferable to the total prohibition of intoxicating liquors." For Queen's, N. S. Macdonnell and J. H. McQuarrie argued in favor of the affirmative. Ottawa College was represented by C. J. Jones, '07, and A. B. Cote '08. By her victory on that occasion Queen's retained the Intercollegiate Debating Championship.

The Dramatic Club

THE Dramatic Club of Queen's University is one of the younger student organizations, having just completed its fifth year. This club is not affiliated with the Alma Mater Society, still it has the enthusiastic support and confidence of the student body as a whole.

The aims of this society have been to foster dramatic culture, to present at least one dramatic performance each session, and to extend its auspices to such professional presentations as it should consider suitable. The enthusiasm of the students and the kind assistance offered by the critics have done much to make this club such a success. Last year, under the guidance of Prof. Carruthers, the club presented to the public scenes from three of Shakespeare's plays—"The Merchant of Venice," "Twelfth Night" and "Hamlet." Later on in the session the club was fortunate in being able to present to the public Ben Greet and his company of "Woodland" players, two performances being given in Grant Hall—"The Merchant of Venice" and "Macbeth."

This year the club undertook even greater achievements, and were successful in giving the entire comedy of "As You Like

It" in the city opera house. We must acknowledge our indebtedness to Mr. Robson C. Black, who not only directed the players, but also acted the leading part of Orlando. The College Symphony Orchestra played between acts, adding much to the success of the evening's entertainment. The year's work did not end here, for the Dramatic Club, seeing the interest taken in their own amateur performance, sought to repay their appreciative audience by bring professional talent to the city. The President, Prof. Marshall, succeeded in obtaining the services of Miss Minnie M. Williams, a Shakespearian reciter, from New York. Her recitals of "Hamlet" and "The Winter's Tale" showed an intelligent interpretation of Shakespeare's varied characters, but were rather poorly attended, owing, no doubt, to the lateness of the session.

The society holds fortnightly meetings, and are contemplating undertaking the production of another of Shakespeare's plays. If it be true that the present reveals the future, then we can safely predict another successful session for Queen's Dramatic Club.

The Musical Organizations

THE Musical Committee, which is appointed by and responsible to the Alma Mater Society, controls the various musical organizations, and looks after the musical interests of the University generally. The Secretary-Treasurer of this committee acts as business manager for the clubs on all tours and for all concerts; and on the election of a Secretary-Treasurer a great deal hinges, as the success or failure of the financial end of the concerts and tours depends largely on him.

The Glee, Mandolin and Guitar Clubs have this year, under the careful and capable instruction of Miss A. S. Singleton and Mr. E. H. Merry respectively, reached a very high standard of efficiency. The part which these clubs contribute to the programmes of the different Alma Mater functions speaks well both for the instructors and the members of the clubs.

This session the Mandolin Club furnished the music for the Dramatic Club's production of "As You Like It" in the Grand Opera House, and contributed to the musical part of the programme on the evening of the Intercollegiate debate. On both occasions the ovation they received is all that is necessary to be mentioned.

At the Conversazione a considerable part of the programme was furnished by the Glee and Mandolin Clubs, and the class of music was of the best.

The city concert, though not a financial success on account of counter-attractions, was one of the musical treats of the season, and the management are to be congratulated on the programme that was given.

The Ladies' Glee Club seems to have slept through the last session, but we feel sure that by next fall they will have recovered from the dormant stage and will begin work with a new lease of life and vigor unequalled in ages.

We welcome most cordially the Students' Orchestra as another club which has sprung into existence, and was recognized by the Musical Committee at their annual meeting in the spring, and this is only a step from recognition by the Alma Mater Society, which will probably take place when their annual report is presented. The orchestra is now practising faithfully, and will in the not far distant future represent no small part of the musical talent of the University.

QUEEN'S GLEE CLUB

Queen's University Text Books

R. UGLOW & COMPANY, Booksellers and Stationers, Publishers and Importers of Queen's University Text Books

WE carry a Full and Complete Stock of all the TEXT BOOKS and Books recommended to be read in the Calendar of Queen's University, in the departments of Arts, Science, Divinity and Medicine.

Extra-Mural Students can rely on having their orders promptly and carefully attended to. Correspondence solicited. Information, Quotations, etc., cheerfully supplied by return mail.

R. Uglow & Company ^{141 Princess Street} Kingston, Ont.

For Latest Style

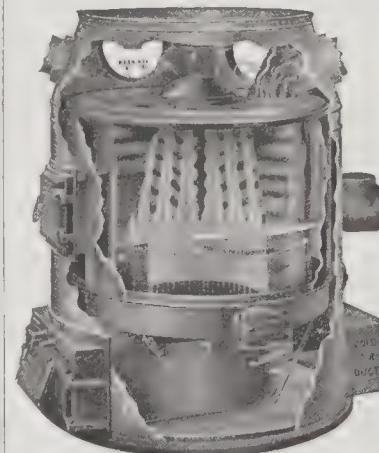

PHOTOS

go to

CHARLES H. BOYES

224 Princess Street

KELSEY WARM AIR GENERATORS (PATENTED)

HEAT MAKERS FUEL SAVERS

FOR

Home, Church, School

KELSEY GENERATORS are quite unlike every other warming and ventilating apparatus.

The Kelsey System furnishes large volumes of fresh, pure, properly warmed air.

The Kelsey System provides for proper ventilation as well as economical and satisfactory warming.

Sole Makers for Canada THE JAMES SMART MFG. CO. Ltd.
Western Branch—Winnipeg, Man. Brockville, Ont.

